ACHS Top Gun aims for better communication

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

It has been an interesting month for the new superintendent of Antioch Community High School.

Dr. Robert Schley, 49, whose last name when pronounced correctly sounds like sly, is beginning to settle into his new job as the top gun of ACHS as his first month passes quickly by.

"Things are very busy," said Schley from a make shift office as his is presently being remodeled. "I haven't run out of things to do yet."

Schley, who was hired by the ACHS School Board in early April to replace the retiring Dr. Gary Allen on June 30, probably will not find much free time in his schedule anytime in the near future due to the number of issues facing him and the district in the coming months.

One of Schley's first goals is the restructuring of administrative positions within the district. This restructuring could eliminate some positions and redefine the job responsibilities of others, Schley said.

"I want to take the people we have, use their strengths, and train them for their next level of administration," said Schley. "I believe in this type of upward training for our administration staff."

Another potential problem area for the new Superintendent could be the ongoing teacher contract negotiations.

"We really would like to get the negotiations over with as soon as possible," said Schley. "I'd like to have them done before school starts in the fall."

Taste, Days a success despite weather

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Despite less than perfect weather, Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days was a success according to local merchants.

The Annual Maxwell Street Days and the Taste of Antioch, which was scheduled from July 23-25, was sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, the local merchants and restaurants and the Village of Antioch.

This year's Taste, according to Taste of Antioch Organizer Frank DiMarco, was better than last year and despite some very threatening weather, people came out in droves and kept everyone busy.

"The weather was bad, but we had more people than last year," said DiMarco, who owns DiMarco's Restaurant on Main Street. "All of the restaurants I've talked to said that they were pleased with the turnout."

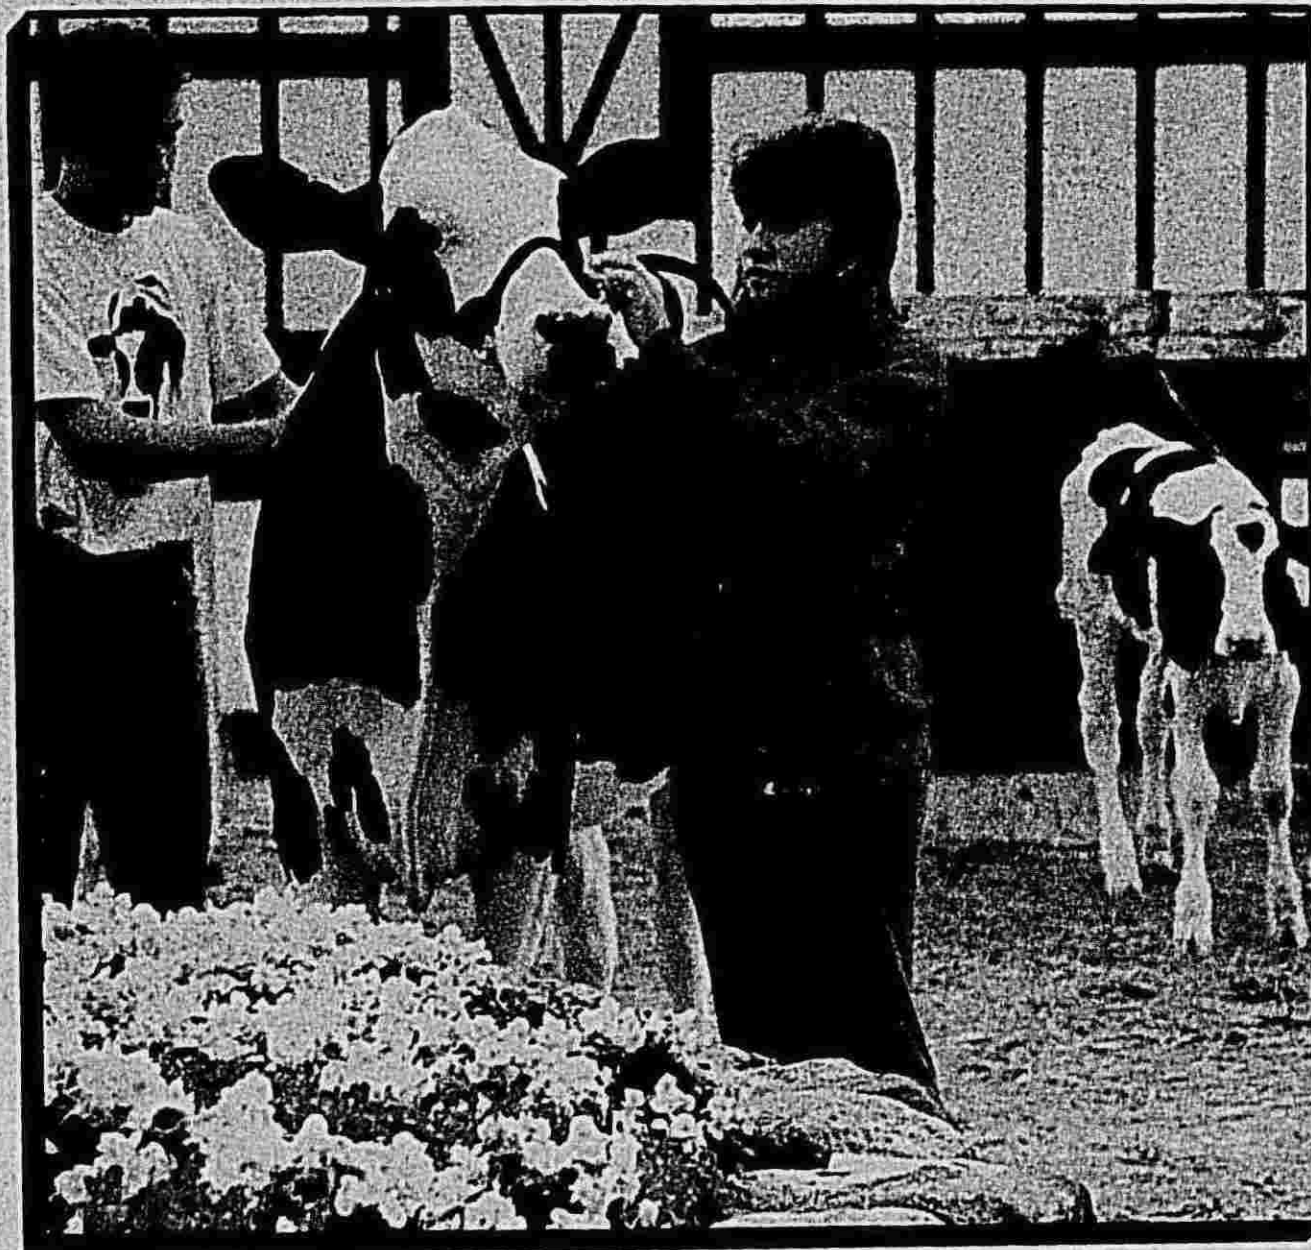

The Taste and Maxwell Street Days are the major fund raiser of the year for the Chamber, which funds various non-profit events throughout the year, said DiMarco.

Although the final tally of the four-day event is not complete, DiMarco believes that the Chamber will do extremely well after the weekend they had.

"I think it will be extremely profitable (Continued on Page 7)

Victims of masseur call for licensing profession

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch masseur, who was convicted on only one of six counts of battery against him, received a two year conditional discharge sentence and a $300 fine in Lake County Circuit Court.

Bernard Metzel, 45, of 26387 Grapevine Ave., and the owner of the Body Management Clinic, 800 Main St., faced sentencing for that one conviction on July 21 in front of Associate Judge Michael Fritz.

Metzel, who had been accused of improperly touching three women during massages at the clinic, however received a strict warning from Judge Fritz about his future behavior at the clinic.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Sean Burke, Metzel is not to be locked in a room or alone in a room with any client or patient or touch the breast or pubic area of any patient. If these and other conditions are not met, Metzel could spend up to a year in jail, Burke said.

But despite the conviction, two of the victims, who have contacted Lakeland (Continued on Page 8)

West Gurnee parcel topic for board

GURNEE—Gurnee Village Board members will consider a just over 200 acre subdivision at the next meeting. Annexation of the 12 acres Ravinia Meadows was planned for Monday, but owners were called out of town and requested a week's delay. The next meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 3 at village hall. Plans call for a planned unit development of single-family homes with lots ranging from 13,000 to 7,5000 square feet. L.B. Anderson is the owner of the property known as the Clavey Nursery. On the western border of Gurnee, it includes a 10-acre park site.

Police apprehend 6 in boat burglaries

FOX LAKE — Four adults and two juveniles have been charged with burglary in the wake of several thefts from boats docked in the Fox Lake area. "There may be more arrests — it's an ongoing investigation," Fox Lake Police Chief Ron Nagel said. Arrested for burglary were Tron Allard, 18, of Fox Lake; Russell Carlson, 24, of Island Lake; Wayne Clements, 18, of Spring Grove; and Michael Giddings, 20, of Fox Lake. Allard was also charged with the possession of burglary tools. A 16-year-old boy and a 15-year-old boy were also charged. Police believe the group stole as much as $20,000 in items from boats. Nagel said $10,000-$12,000 worth of merchandise has been recovered.

Fox Lake offers Sale-A-Bration

FOX LAKE — After months of planning and preparation, Sale-A-Bration weekend has arrived in Fox Lake. Organizers of the event anticipate an influx of 10,000 people looking for deals on cars, boats and other wares from Friday, July 31 through Sunday, Aug. 2. The village's three new-car dealers and 10 area boat companies will move their showrooms to the Metra commuter lot on Grand Avenue. The emphasis will be on super savings to move merchandise. The same will be true when around 35 other merchants participate in the Sidewalk Sale sponsored by the Fox Lake Area Chamber of Commerce. Seven restaurants will set up facilities between the car and boat dealer to offer a "Taste of Fox Lake."

Democrats make house voter calls

Democrats will make house calls.

They will do it anytime between now and one month prior to the Nov. 3 presidential election to register new voters. A telephone call will bring in a Democratic precinct committeeman to the door with the proper registration forms.

In addition, the Lake County Democratic party will also conduct door-to-door drives on specific days throughout the county.

The first will be Saturday, Aug. 8, in Waukegan and North Chicago. Others will be Saturday, Aug. 15, in the Round Lake area and Saturday, Aug. 22, in the Mundelein area.

Radio commercials will remind voters of these dates and the offer of committeemen to visit individual addresses. To arrange a house call, telephone the Democratic party at (708) 234-6333.

"We'll go to any location convenient for the potential voter," said Terry Link, chairman of the county party. "Everyone should stand up and be counted in order to express themselves through the ballot box."

Voters can also register at the County Clerk's office in Waukegan, township offices, some schools, libraries and municipal offices. The County Clerk will send a registrar to send someone to locations where a group may wish to sign up such as a nursing home or hospital. To make such arrangements, call the County Clerk at (708) 360-6628.

Last day to register for the upcoming presidential election is Monday, Oct. 5.

To register, a person must be age 18 by Nov. 3, 1992, a resident of Lake County for 30 days prior to the election and a citizen of the United States. They must provide two pieces of identification, one of which must show the current address such as a driver's license or utility bill.

Charity here won't cut off Scouts' funds

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

United Way of Lake County will not follow the lead of Chicago's United Way charity, which may cut off funds to Boy Scout groups because of their policies excluding gays and requiring religious oaths.

As United Ways elsewhere in the country have criticized the Boy Scouts, Lake County United Way officials have repeatedly reviewed and reaffirmed their policy on funding the Scouts, said group President Jan Edgar. Each time, the board of directors voted unanimously that the community would be better served if the Scouts' services continued than if they were cut off, Edgar said.

"We're trying to meet the needs of the community, and the Boy Scout programs are very highly valued in Lake County," Edgar said. "Our board's decision was and is to continue and support our local Boy Scout program," Edgar said.

Charges that the Boy Scout policies are discriminatory "is an issue between the Boy Scouts and the courts," Edgar said. "I don't see that that's the United Way's issue."

The board has reaffirmed Scout funding five times in the past year and a half, most recently this month.

The United Way of Chicago last month threatened to yank funds for the Chicago Boy Scout organization after June 1993 unless the group dropped the policies excluding gays and atheists. The San Francisco United Way in April ended funding for Scout troops there over the gay-exclusionary policy.

Lake County's United Way plans to provide $121,000 in 1992 to two Scout groups that serve the county, the Northeast Illinois Council and the Northwest Suburban Council of Boy Scouts.

Officials from both councils confirmed that they follow the policies, which are mandated by the national Boy Scouts organizations.

Local Scout groups "don't have the option" to reject national policy, said Todd Wordel, field director of the Northwest Suburban Council, which has troops in Lake Zurich and northern Cook County. The council has reviewed the policies several times in recent years and has restated their compliance with them in recent years, Wordel said, "but it has always been as a matter of fact, not as an item that we could choose on."

Wordel said his group believes the Boy Scouts of America has the right to be selective in its membership requirements because it is not a public organization.

"The Boys Scouts of America is a private organization, and that is actually the underlying issue," Wordel said.

"The issue has been, with atheists and homosexuals, why they can't get into the organization," Wordel said. "It's because we have our membership standards and we apply them.

"If they (gays and atheists) wanted to set up their own organization, they would be free to do so," he added.

After surgery, I was amazed how soon I was back at work.

I kept postponing my operation.

Setting aside three to four weeks to recover seemed almost impossible. Then, I learned about the new Laser Care Center of Lake County at Victory Memorial Hospital.

Since 1987, Victory has performed over 2000 successful procedures and has the most extensive selection of lasers in Lake County. And with laser surgery, I experienced less bleeding, swelling and scarring, had less danger of infection, and a much shorter recovery time.

The entire staff of Victory's Surgery Department was wonderful. I was well-informed about procedures and pain management, and they even called me at home afterward to see how I was doing. My doctor says Victory has one of the best organized and most efficient surgical units in the area. He was right. I was really impressed with the care I received.

I hope I don't need any more surgery, but if I do, my choice will always be Victory.

For a FREE laser or general surgery brochure or a list of laser specialists and surgeons, call 1-800-THE CHOICE (1-800-843-2464), 9 am-5pm, Monday-Friday.

Thanks for help

Well, first of all, I'd like to say, it's great, this Lip Service. It's just a wonderful thing you people are doing. I never thought I'd see anything like this. I saw the article about the person who didn't like the whining. I think that he is off his tree. It's a perfect opportunity to get things off your chest. It's the only way that you can do it. I'm from Round Lake. I want to say a thousand thanks to the people that helped my daughter and I. We were rear-ended this weekend. I'd like to thank the car in front of my daughter, a blue Honda. He was just super. He ran out of his car and helped us without thinking about himself at all. And then another man, kept the car off the track. There were two of them. We just can't thank them enough. We don't know who these two boys were. And then there was a lady. She helped us keep calm until the paramedics arrived and everything. There was an off-duty paramedic who ran from her house to help us, also. And anyone else who helped us, we hope that that they are recognized. There was only one problem that we had. When it happened, we were on the way to a wedding and we had the gifts in the car. Someone stole the gift, my cigarettes and hers, my shoes, and my daughter's sunglasses. I don't believe that people would do that. I think that it is a shame because we were hit by a drunk driver and then someone stole our things. Thank you for hearing me out.

Message of love

Hi, I'm calling to tell one of your readers, my husband, Mike, how much I love him. He reads the newspaper every week, and I want to know how very much he is cared about. He is the best person in the whole world and he makes me happier than anyone ever could. I read a lot of things that aren't positive in this column, and I want him to know how much I truly love him. I hope that next week when he gets the paper, he will know how much his wife at home loves him very much.

Check out bill

I urge citizens everywhere to look over your real estate tax bill. Take notice of the pension funds from the county, forest preserve, township, road and bridge, library, and most of all the school district. These "public servants" get to take our tax dollars and get to invest them into different mutual funds and other investments for themselves. But, the poor tax payers have to put their tax dollars into a system that has been bankrupted by the very people who should to serve us. Let's seek legislation that make public officials invest in the same system as the rest of us. Thank you very much.

Equality in Round Lake

I'm tired of all the white people in the Round Lake area, including Beach, Heights, Park areas. Their attitudes with the Hispanics is not nice. They should act more civil with Hispanics.

Bike safety non-existent

Hi, I'm from Antioch. I would like to know when the people that sell the BMX bikes or the police department is going to have a safety class? This really tees me off. You go to the grocery store and you almost get run over by these kids. They ride around with no lights on and no reflectors. They think they can go anywhere that they want to. My wife just got into an accident tonight. She hit a light post at 10:30 p.m. There must be at least $2,000 damage to our van and this kid just took off. No reflectors or lights. What happened to bike safety? These kids just go anywhere that they want to. And also skateboards, something has to be done about it. Thank you very much. Good bye.

Votes give wrong impression

I often wonder why school referendums are put to the voters. Most tax issues are handled by the officers.

When a school referendum is defeated, it gives children a message that we just don't care. There should be equal payment to all teachers. And until that time, please remember that schools are not run on peanuts.

Give them more discounts

I can't image why anyone would not want senior citizens to get discounts on anything. As far as I am concerned, the discount should be greater and more prevalent. I go to the restaurants who give discount. I would also like the department stores and grocery stores to follow suit. The percentages should be at least 20 percent on all items in the stores, including sale items. I am not a senior citizen. I am only 40, but I hope that when I become a senior, people will be considerate.

I second the big store

I, too, would like to see a big discount store in Antioch. Let's keep our money where it belongs. Just as the previous caller suggested. Antioch is a beautiful town, all of the small shops are nice. But, sometimes the little stores are too expensive for everybody's pocketbook.

Not snobby, just close knit

I don't think that the people of Antioch are snobs. I did when I first moved here, but I was wrong. The people in Antioch are close knit and cautious to newcomers. Once they get used to seeing you around about a year or two, they will soon take you under their wings. We are not a town of snobs, we are just comfortable with each other. Be patient and 30 years from now, you may be considered a snob. Thank you.

Discounts should be to all

This is to the people who honestly believe that senior citizen discounts are great. The older people in the nation may need the discount, but, just to be fair, why don't we have student discounts or "just married" discounts or "new parent" discounts? Hard times come to (Continued on page 11)

Twins celebrate mom's surprise 40 years later

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

A special reunion occurred on July 19 when Antioch resident Helen Libert and her twin daughters celebrated their entrance into the world 40 years ago, with the help of the Antioch Rescue Squad.

On July 21, 1952, a eight month pregnant Libert, who had just returned from the doctor's office, began to go into labor when the Antioch Rescue squad was called to take her to St. Therese Hospital in Waukegan.

According to Libert, her oldest daughter Cindy, was born on the Route 41 overpass over Grand Ave. at 5:35 p.m. Christine, on the other hand, waited until the Rescue Squad reached the driveway of St. Therese at 5:42 p.m. to the surprise of all involved.

"I had no idea I was expecting twins," said Libert at the party.

The Antioch Rescue Team that drove Libert to the hospital were: driver Everett Oftedahl and medic Herman Holbeck.

Legend has it, according to Libert, that the proud father, who was at work at the time in Chicago when his twins were born, was in complete silence on his end of the phone.

"There are those who believe he fainted," said Libert.

for the Chamber," said DiMarco.

DiMarco based his thoughts on the fact that despite the bad weather, his restaurant's booth was busy almost the entire weekend.

"I couldn't stop moving," said DiMarco. "My restaurant was at a non-stop pace."

As for next year, DiMarco thinks that the Chamber will have to find a larger area to handle the large crowds.

"We will have to do something to enlarge the space to handle the larger crowds," said DiMarco. "But, we will keep it a family affair. I don't want to lose the quaintness."

DiMarco's final thoughts on the success of the Taste included most of his supporting cast.

"I would like to thank Joe Huber and his guys from the Village. They did an outstanding job. And I would just like to thank all of the volunteers for their hard work and effort," said DiMarco.

Next year's Taste and Maxwell Street Days are now just a summer away.

Boater's autopsy showed he died of head injuries

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The autopsy of an Antioch boater, whose body was recovered after it floated to the surface of Cross Lake three days after falling out of a boat, showed he died of massive head injuries, said Chief Deputy Coroner James Whipper.

The body of Robert Applegren, 29, was finally recovered on July 21 at 6:15 a.m.

after an exhausting three-day search ended when divers could not locate the body, which apparently was caught in the lake's heavy vegetation.

According to Whipper, the autopsy revealed that Applegren died from head injuries and did not drown.

"He may have been struck by the circling boat after he fell into the water," said Whipper.

Guidance department ready for new focus

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Student guidance and counseling at Antioch High School will have a new look this fall with new directions and new energy supplied by Jane Abramson, long-time faculty member who has taken over as AHS guidance director.

Addressing members of the Antioch Rotary Club at a luncheon at Hogan's, Abramson described how the pace of student guidance and counseling is stepping up as stiffer graduation requirements are instituted.

Antioch High School will be implementing new state mandates adding to graduation requirements beginning in the fall of 1993, according to Abramson. At the same time, AHS will be offering new initiatives in connection with Tech Prep, a program intensifying basic education as it relates to work experience.

Abramson, who took over her new post July 1, said her department has set goals organized along years of attendance.

For freshmen, the department will be focusing on study skills. For sophomores, emphasis will be on career awareness.

"For juniors and seniors, we're going to stress after-school attainment, financial requirements for further education and communications with parents," Abramson declared.

The support arm of academics at Antioch High, Abramson explained, relates counseling to the "in school" experience and guidance efforts to the future. "The two are difference," she stressed.

The new director lauded Rotarians for their continuing support of secondary education as reflected in Career Shadowing, student exchange and scholarships.

Beginning in 1983, Antioch Rotarians have added to scholarship enhancement to the point where $10,000 annually of the club's approximate $55,000 philanthropic budget goes for scholarships.

In answer to a question, Abramson reported that 35 percent of AHS graduates continue their education at a four-year school, 35 percent go on to a two-year school, and the remainder enter the job market or military service.

"Our focus this year will be delivery of services," Abramson promised.

However, probably the most important topic to date, which will affect the outcome of the previously mentioned topics, is the budget and the budget deficit in the education fund for ACHS.

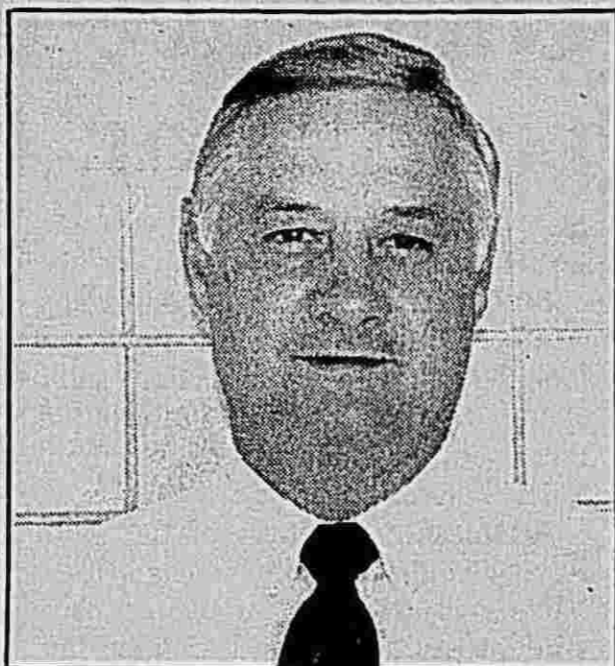

To help bring the budget in line, Schley first wants to create a common language about the school's finances for all to understand. "It needs to be clear to everyone what we are talking about."

According to Schley, the Education fund for the 1992-93 school year will face another $500,000 to $600,000 deficit, despite the $1 million in budget reductions experienced last year.

"The Education fund includes everything related to the instruction in a classroom," said Schley. "That includes teacher salaries, books, equipment and so on. Yes, there have been cuts but there are inflationary factors and state funding is limited right now."

The Education fund, because it provides the money for a numerous amount of items, usually carries the brunt of the financial stress, said Schley.

There is better news however, for the rest of ACHS's financial picture. "We are pretty much set everywhere else," said Schley.

Finally, ACHS's new top gun wants to improve the image of the school within the community and help them understand the problems that the school is faced with.

"The school has an image problem right now in the community," said Schley.

Schley hopes to improve the problem by setting a direction and a vision for the school to become in the long term.

"I have some concerns, but I am happy with how the transition is going," said Schley.

Newspapers, are not happy with the sentencing or Judge Fritz's comments after the trial.

"I expected a little more than a $300 fine," said one of the victims who identified herself as Carol, age 40. "Despite what the Judge said, I knew what to expect and he went beyond the limits."

Another victim, who identified herself as Katherine, said "It wasn't our fault that it happened."

According to the victims, they came to Metzel's clinic to reduce stress and eliminate neck and back pain.

"I've been to a number of masseurs, and what he did to me was totally unacceptable," said Katherine. "People who use that clinic are being taken advantage of, something has to be done."

The victims also pointed to the need for a professional licensing of masseurs in an effort to eliminate future incidents.

"If there were some type of licensing process, this guy would not be in the business he is in," said Katherine. "This guy has a criminal record."

According to Burke, Metzel was convicted in 1983 on contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor in Cook County and given one year's probation.

Metzel's attorney Burton Gross, of Chicago, said that the conviction was nine years ago and he has otherwise lived an exemplary life.

"This kind of behavior is unacceptable. I can't believe he is still practicing massages," said Katherine.

Friendly faces

During recent garage sale outings I had the pleasant opportunity to chat with some nice Antioch area residents, little Kara Eller, her mom and younger sister were tending shop in their garage.

Her dog had a colorful scarf tied around his neck and when I inquired about his special decorative apparel, Kara struggled with the big word "bandana" in a cute effort to describe his neck tie.

Ernie Okrzesik is anticipating the birth of her ninth grandchild and enjoys each and every one of them.

We saw Leonard Bergl at the corner Quick Mart gas station on our way to a garage sale. Upon arriving at the sale, we discovered it was being held at the house next door to the Bergls.

Sandy Gilday was sitting down on a garage floor sifting through the children's clothing bargains for her grandchildren and Susie Baird was helping her sister Debbie host a sale.

Karen and Alex Rinaldi gave my husband some extra special bargains while I sat in the car enjoying a tasty hot bog from the local stand.

Jan Lyons was hosting a sale and little Gregory made sure she didn't try to sell the crayon drawings created for him by Miss Liz. He informed me they were definitely hanging safely on his bedroom wall.

Gregory gave me one of his beautiful "good luck" beaded bracelet. Barb Marre tells me she often hits the sales to get those terrific bargains for her grandchildren and we compared notes of all the great things we have found for the little ones.

Before heading home we stopped at a sale close to home and met a very friendly new Antioch area resident and neighbor. I introduced myself to her and she in turn did the same.

Unfortunately I can only recall her first name, Toni. So if you are reading "Hometown Goodies," Toni, welcome to Antioch and call me with a tidbit and remind me of your last name one more time. Once again garage selling produced many bargains and also a lot of friendly conversation with many nice friends and neighbors.

Social gathering
Recently JoAnn and Don Bergl hosted a relaxing BBQ/Yard social gathering at their lovely Antioch home overlooking beautiful Fox Lake. Barb and Lee Marre were there as were their sons, Ken and Rick Marre, a daughter-in-law, Audra Marre (Rick's wife).

Seeing Rick and Audra's three little children was like turning back the clock for me. I remember Rick with a crop of blonde hair way back when I worked as a kindergarten teacher's aide at Grass Lake School.

Now Rick's daughters, Corry and Amanda, and son, Ricky, Jr., have the same blonde hair and facial features as daddy. Grandpa Marre (Lee's dad) came along to enjoy the day at the Bergls and to visit with his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. JoAnn and Don's sons, Dennis and Ken, were also on hand to enjoy the festivities as represented as were Ernie Lova and Pat and Jerry Starom. Donna, Jim Jr., Jim Sr., and yours truly were there to represent the Schmehl family.

During the course of the evening, Barb Marre asked about Ceil and Vic Bennet, former Antioch friends relocated to Oxford, Ga.

Since the Bennet's sub-the beach, landing in a belly flop.

Sally has a snake phobia and even recoils at seeing a garden snake twenty feet away. You can imagine her reaction when meeting "Mr. Snake" face to face. She screamed, lost her grip and quicker than a wink she received a second unplanned close look at the beautiful ocean.

Hometown Goodies

scribe to the Antioch Reporter from their Georgia "plantation," Barb wanted to say hi and I think of you often, via "Hometown Goodies" so it's been said. Thank's Bergls for a relaxing fun evening.

Phobia stumble

Recently Sally Hiller enjoyed a relaxing vacation in San Francisco. Northern California was sparsely inhabited and was dotted with gorgeous cliffs overlooking the ocean.

Sally, her son, Adam, and sister, Mary Stahl, came across one of these cliffs featuring a look out point. Signs were posted indicating dangerous rock-slides.

A steep path lead down from this particular cliff to the ocean and they were contemplating a hike down the path but were apprehensive due to the steepness.

When another family came along and assured them they did it many times and it was 100 percent safe, they decided to hike down to enjoy a dip in the ocean. All three of them reached the bottom without any difficulty.

Once there, they realized they had forgotten their swim suits and began to hike back up to get them. Up went Mary (no problem) and up went Adam (no problem). When Sally began her climb she suddenly found herself face to face with a huge snake and tumbled back down to

However, she had to conquer her fear on this particular afternoon as the upward climb was the only way back to the car and her ticket out of there. She took a few moments to compose herself, secretly prayed that scary "Mr. Snake" had relocated and began the long, slow climb back up to the car.

After reaching the top without a second encounter with the dreaded reptile, she breathed an enormous sigh of relief and thought "boy do I have a story for "Hometown Goodies!"

Not old

Helen Olechny definitely turned "75 years young" on July 4. This 3/4 of a century birthday was celebrated in style on July 11, at the beautiful Landmark Restaurant in Antioch.

About 125 of Helen's family members and friends secretly gathered at the Landmark about one half hour before Helen was due to arrive. Her daughter, Carolyn, escorted Helen to the restaurant under the disguise of a 25th anniversary celebration for someone else.

When Helen and Carolyn entered the room and all of the guests yelled "surprise" she was flabbergasted to see everyone gathered in her honor. The meal was delicious, the birthday cakes were beautiful and I understand Helen did a fine job dancing the polka with Gayle Milowski and Sandy Boesdorfer.

A special somebody was on hand to help Helen celebrate, Dick Hogan, the former Grass Lake School Superintendent, drove up from Lisle just to be with Helen on her special day.

Helen's son was busy capturing everyone and everything on his video camera.

He left no stone unturned. If it happened, it is now on tape. However, Marie Brausam came to his rescue momentarily and did some taping for him in order that he, too, could be recorded for posterity. Relatives came as far as California and Colorado to celebrate with Helen.

Her children had been working hardwork paid off. One more time, Happy 75th, Mrs. "O", and sorry I missed the celebration, but I promise I will dance the polka with you when you turn 100 years old, and I know you will!

Raising funds never ends for baseball volunteers

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

So nearly 600 Antioch boys and girls can enjoy a summer baseball, adult volunteers in Antioch Youth Baseball work year around to raise funds and perform behind-the-scenes jobs that make the popular program click.

Talking to members of the Antioch Rotary Club, President Tom Shaughnessy said there are always more places to spend than there are funds raised through a variety of different endeavors.

That's why Shaughnessy expressed gratitude for a $5,000 donation to AYB made by the Rotarians.

The program is facing an $18,000 expenditure to purchase uniforms, bats and balls. Upgrading a concession stand to meet village building codes is costing $11,000.

Lighting for after dark play has been improved with an energy efficient 24 light system that replaced an 81 light system, Shaughnessy related.

New fencing is costing $11,000. The price tag on improving drainage is about $6,000, according to the president.

Besides its other forms of support, the president pointed out that State Bank of Antioch underwrites a raffle project for individual fees which can be defrayed by families and individuals by the sale of tickets. This year the entry fee was $35 per player.

"If all the raffle tickets are sold, there is no cost for a boy or girl for playing ball. There always is some confusion over this," Shaughnessy mentioned.

Sponsorships from merchants and local organizations can be obtained for a sliding scale running from $100 to $150.

As soon as the current season is concluded, officers and committees will begin planning for 1993 and focusing on the never-ending job of raising funds.

those of all ages. It is ridiculous for the elderly to expect or demand higher percentages. Don't they understand that people of all ages run short on money and would appreciate a hefty discount at stores, and restaurants, and the like? Be happy that you have a discount and don't take it for granted.

Way to go, girls!

Hello! A big congratulations to the senior girls in the Grant Township District Meet. They won their tournaments and now they go on. It was great. This tournament was almost heart stopping and we want to congratulate all of these girls. Your fans really love you, we enjoy your playing, and the coaches. Go ahead, girls! Win the next one. Also a congratulation to the boys. They won their district, it was the first time in Grant Township. We are proud of you all. Thank you.

Thanks a lot

Yes, I am from Lake Villa and I would like to thank the person that smashed the rear quarter panel of my car. It was in the Jewel parking lot in Round Lake on Friday afternoon. The insurance deductible is $500, and the repairs will come out of my own pocket at $385. Thank you very much.

Police not all bad

Recent articles in this paper have shed a negative light on the Lindenhurst police department and created a great deal of controversy within the community. Much of this comes from the fact that this paper did not check the fact before going to press. Some members have made allegations. This paper has failed to check out these allegations fully. The department was never quoted. If you would have checked out the facts, you would have known the whole story.

Applause to girls

This is no gripe, this is applause! Wow, you did it! The Grant Township Senior girls won their tournament. Thank you for winning. Also, thank you to Coach Gambit and Coach Knack. Thanks from a very happy grandmother. Keep up the good work.

Thanks, teachers

Hi, I just wanted to thank the teachers of Round Lake High School who helped us with our future even though they did not know what the future held for them.

Spending more money

Thanks a lot to whoever broke into Round Lake High School! Just what we need, more things that need repaired that we don't have money for. Thank you so much.

Officials own small stores

This is in response to the add last week, "Store wanted." The reason that we don't have a K-mart or Venture in Antioch is because they wanted to come in, but the village officials said no. The village officials are mostly people who own businesses on Main Street and don't want the big store to take away their business. Let's get some new officials in there and quit worrying about Main Street Antioch. There is a town out there besides Main Street.

Don't like it, leave!

This is response to the caller who thinks that the residents are rude. If you say you want to go, well leave. Get out.

Taxes high again

Hi, I just received my assessor card in the mail and I am mad as hell. Last year, my taxes increased $600. Next year, the taxes will increase by $400! This increase must be for Depke's six paychecks. Read my lips, Lake County: I'm outta here!

Elvis was a waste

Hi, I think that Lipservice is a great thing. It is about time that some paper did something like this. Please don't garbage up your paper with things like Bobby Bradshaw doing Elvis. What a waste of print! That guy is a total nerd, if you have ever seen him at the car wash. And another thing, I agree with the person that said that there are enough muffler shops in Round Lake. We need more restaurants and fun places to go. People have got to have more ideas. Parents have got to have places to take their kids. Thanks for letting me sound off.

Greetings from California!

I lived in Antioch for 13 years prior to moving to the West Coast last summer. I still subscribe to the Antioch News-Reporter and read your column every week, and while I agree with the person who called Lipservice, stating that they're sick of hearing about your family and the Grass Lake clique... in your defense, you do invite readers to call you with with "tidbits" and obviously, nobody does (or do you ignore them?) The main reason that I am calling is to point out your gross misspelling of the description of the men who helped carry the heavy package for your friend. I'm sure you meant "virile"... not "viral." I got a chuckle out of that. Many of your readers undoubtedly have relatives of friends living out here and probably worry about the earthquakes. Wee, as a native Midwesterner, I can tell you that I've experienced much worse by driving through blinding snowstorms, torrential rains, sleet, hail, dense fog, and high winds. I'll take an earthquake over those elements any day! I still miss my family and friends back there, and plan to move back someday...but I'm certainly enjoying the weather out here at the present time. Write on Liz!

Useless movies

Hi, I am a 6th grader. Why are there bad things in every movie? There is swearing and bad people. I am a Christian. I want to see some good morals in the movies for young people. Now please put out some good movies for the young people because they are the future. Bye.

Budget, don't complain

I'm calling about the Round Lake Beach School District tax increase. I totally agree with the person that said that they need to budget their money better. I, too, will be voting no for the tax increase. Thank you.

Direct public traffic

Pertaining to rush hour traffic. I don't know why sheriffs and police departments need to be at private and church-orientated places directing traffic out of these places. Why can't they be at overpopulated intersections? Instead of spending their time at the factories, they could be at the intersections. If they want the traffic controlled, why don't they hire their own people to direct traffic. Thank you.

Quit cutting trees

Hi, I am an 11-year-old. My parents moved here 14 years ago. It really bugs me that they are tearing down trees and building houses in Lake County.

Lottery money goes to school

Hi. I have been perusing your Lipservice for the past couple of weeks now. And I have grown very interested (Continued on page 53)

Dividing all the gravy

Lost in the furor over the possibility of casino gambling being established in Chicago is the fact that horse racing and pari-mutual betting in Illinois pretty much is a suburban and downstate enterprise.

The state's seven tracks are clustered in the suburbs and Moline and Collinsville. Of the 18 legal off track betting parlors, including one in Waukegan, only three are located in Chicago.

True, the northern Illinois thoroughbred and trotting tracks are located for convenient access to Chicago residents—but not Chicago politicians. Therein undoubtedly lies the reason behind the frenzied interest in introducing more legalized gambling in Chicago.

If Wisconsin hadn't gone bonkers over pari-mutual dog racing, there would be more OTB outlets along the stateline. Spots in Fox Lake, the Rockford area and Galena were under study until dog tracks in Kenosha and Lake Geneva-Delavan drained off a substantial portion on the betting public, making more investment in off-track facilities uneconomical.

With the full support and cooperation of the Illinois Dept. of Agriculture and the state's political apparatus, horse racing and breeding over the years has become a huge industry with an estimated $1.36 billion impact on the state economy. Close to 40,000 jobs are involved directly in breeding and racing. Over $45 million a year is pumped into the state treasury with the gambling income going for all sorts of worthwhile endeavors including premium money to be paid at events like the Lake County Fair running this week at Grayslake.

All of this economic activity and accompanying ripples are going on with Chicago essentially standing on the outside looking in. Washing away all the family entertainment balderdash and the creative reports of high priced consultants, the proposed casino center boils down to an opportunity for Chicago to hop on the gambling gravy train.

Considering where the horse racing votes are located, it's easy for Gov. Jim Edgar to take the high ground against expanding gambling in Illinois. Besides, tangling with Chicago always has been good politics for Republican governors.

Now there's riverboat gambling and the possibility of native Americans extending reservation wagering into the suburbs. The state is getting a share of the swag on bingo. When you get down to it, Illinoisians love to take chances. In this environment, Chicago isn't likely to be denied in its quest for a casino center.

Question of power

Backers of a home-rule plan for Vernon Hills are putting a new spin on the effort to obtain more local power. Ordinarily, home rule is another way of saying more taxes. Part of the objective for Vernon Hills home rule, though, appears to be doing away with taxes, especially park district taxes.

Village Trustee Steve Henley, one of the home rule advocates, wants to dissolve the Vernon Hills Park District and abate the park district tax. Village officials and the park board long have been at loggerheads, council members seeing the park district as an aggressive taxpayer whereas they take great pride in the fact that the sales tax-rich village does not levy a municipal tax.

Without a tax supported park district, Vernon Hills rulers envision invoking a local sales tax paid by thousands of visitors to Hawthorne Shopping Center and nearby malls to fill the gap created by the elimination of park taxes. Because of its enviable sales tax position, Vernon Hills runs a hefty surplus on its municipal budget.

Officials of neighboring Lake County villages, scratching and scraping to make ends meet, undoubtedly view the Vernon Hills squabble with a combination of amusement and envy. Home-rule advocates quickly point out that despite the flow of sales tax income, Vernon Hills homeowners can use some relief from sky-high real estate taxes due to wildly escalating land values and tax hungry other units of government.

Mayor Barbara Williams has taken a safe position at this point that differences with the park district should be "negotiated" and that home rule needs more study. Because of its unique sales tax income status, the home-rule proposition in Vernon Hills isn't likely to go away soon. This time the home rule question is more about power than taxes.

'Flowers' for Hillary

Politicians desperate for publicity often arrange appearance at children's hospitals before election time. There was a news report of Hillary Clinton taking part in a ceremony at the children's hospital. Was that really a charitable visit, or just political hypocrisy? Was the timely presence of a news photographer arranged? Will she ever go back to visit that children's hospital after the election? Why were there no news photos of the children she allegedly visited?

If she really is so charitable she should be a volunteer at a veteran's hospital. But, Hillary don't tell any disabled veterans that "Slick Willie" is your husband because I doubt if they want to see another draft dodger in the White House.

She is very determined to be First Lady. Should she achieve that goal, surely as an example of diplomacy, George Bush should send his best wishes—of maybe she would prefer "flowers"! Oops—sorry about that one, Hillary?

Urges more recycling

Editor:

Dist. 46 Grayslake Junior High School has decided to experiment with a recycling program for one year.

I agree that the Junior High should start recycling, and I also think that more schools should follow this lead and start a recycling program of their own.

Children need to have hands-on experience and education on recycling. This will help the environment by eliminating most of the school's waste. Hopefully students will learn enough about recycling to start at home and eliminate their personal waste as well.

This new program could only have positive effects on the children, the school and the environment. Please talk about starting a recycling program at your school at the next school board meeting.

False 'protection'

Editor:

I cannot understand the hoopla in Congress over the Supreme Court's recent abortion decision. You would think that the pro-choice law makers would be thrilled that the majority upheld Roe v. Wade. Instead, the so-called choicers are enraged that the Supreme Court upheld the requirements of "Informed Consent" and a 24-hour waiting period following full disclosure.

You would think that those who favor "freedom of choice" would be the first advocates of such provisions. Wouldn't these lawmakers want to protect a woman in a traumatic time from being manipulated

Youth service needs debate of candidates

by BILL SCHROEDER

How many kids in our town would be willing to devote two years of their life to helping make the American Dream a possibility?

That's the underlying question behind an intriguing idea that has been kicking around in various forms for a long time—universal youth service.

If spelled out in detail and pushed vigorously, the idea is so strong it could spell victory for Gov. Bill Clinton or insure the reelection of President George Bush.

The way we understand it, universal youth service boils down to young Americans spending one or two years, probably after high school and before they settle on an occupation or continue advanced education, in some form of service to their country.

Proponents of the idea, mostly conservative thinkers, but a few liberals, too, envision service as Peace Corps, military, public works like the Depression Era Civilian Conservation Corps, coaching or tutoring inner city children, working in hospitals or caring for the elderly or dependant, environmental work.

The service would be uplifting morally and serve as a much-needed bridge to adulthood. The one or two-year stint would be an excellent opportunity to instill patriotism and moral values in impressionable young Americans.

Universal youth service would be a positive and constructive force. What a marvelous vehicle to zero in on substance abuse among the young.

Why haven't any political leaders taken up the cause for universal service? I don't know, probably fear of reprisal more than anything.

Reprisal from whom? I'm only guessing, but maybe the pampered youth of America, misguided parents, labor unions, the radical left, Constitution constructionists, religious groups. Who knows?

I think former Peace Corps members and veterans who have benefited from public service would support universal youth service. I believe that that broad-section of middle America shouldering the tax burden of the nation would be supportive. Voters yearning for a change in the way our nation is going ought to clamor for the youth service plan.

President Bush, Gov. Clinton, what are you waiting for? Let's hear your views on a Plan for America whose time has come.

BLASTS PORTER—Bonnie Quirke, president of Lake County Right to Life, isn't letting up on Congressman John Porter for his vote to lift the ban on using fetal tissue for transplantation purposes. Quirke said she is aware of a Boston neurologist who refutes benefits of fetal tissue transplants. The pro-life activist considers Porter's tissue vote an aid to the abortion industry. Strong views.

THINKING YOUNG—Two friends of this column, Willadene Nicholas, 82, of Grayslake, and Virginia Park, 84, of Long Grove, are in high gear on advancing literary careers.

Nicholas has put aside her water color brushes to write poetry and is scheduled to read some of her work at a meeting of the International Society of Poets Aug. 21-23 at Washington, D.C. The society will include Nicholas' "Always There's An Angel" in an anthology. The Christmas poem is about her grandson, Jonathan, 9, who was born on Dec. 24.

Virginia is excited about the publication of her second book, "With Rhyme and Reason," written in collaboration with her husband, Bill.

The book is a collection of prose and verse written by the Parks during their married life which spans over half a century.

Virginia's contributions cover some of the newspaper columns she has written. Bill leans toward a poetic style for a wide variety of subjects including 14 lines he penned while in a hospital bed after the loss of his right eye.

This writer's favorite pieces are the expressions of love the Parks have written to and for each other during their long wedding life. Quite a romance they've got going.

GANG MEETING—Lake County's own Fred Foreman, U.S. attorney for the Northern Dist. of Illinois, has organized a conference on gang crimes for Sept. 17, at Crystal Lake Holiday Inn. Collar County and Cook County state's attorneys are cooperating with his office to conduct the timely program. Law enforcement officials will be offering their insights into a growing problem plaguing city and suburban areas.

or pressured into a decision that cannot be reversed? Wouldn't they want to protect a woman's right to be fully informed concerning the consequences of the abortion—both to her and her unborn child? If an abortion is simply another medical procedure, then why not require "informed consent?" We do that with almost every other medical procedure.

Isn't it strange that those who fight for full disclosure on everything from prescription medication to cigarettes, from anesthesiology to pre-school toys, would be against full disclosure on abortion? And why would someone oppose a 24 hour waiting period? A crisis pregnancy is an emotional trauma. Such a short period of time at least allows a woman (often a very young woman) some space to weigh her options.

The Pennsylvania law at least ensures that she would even know her options. Those who wish to "protect" a woman's freedom of choice ought to favor laws that truly protect her so that she can freely make a real choice. Otherwise, the women caught in unexpected pregnancy is a victim of the one person who stands to profit from her crisis—the abortionist.

Promote gang awareness

Editor:

I read the article entitled "GCHS Taking Proactive Measures to Stop Gangs." I agree with what Grayslake High School is doing. Students must realize that the faculty is only protecting them against gangs.

Gangs are becoming popular. Along with gangs comes gang violence, gang graffiti, gang clothing, and gang recruitment. To prevent a potential gang problem, the parents of high school students and the community need to know more about gangs.

Antioch High School already has a Parent Awareness Night. Parent Awareness Night has talked about the subject of gang awareness. Unfortunately, not every parent attends. Therefore, I think the school faculty could work with the Antioch, Lake Villa, and the Lindenhurst police departments to compile a packet to be sent out to the parents who have students in high school. This packet could include knowing if your high schooler is involved in a gang.

As far as education of the community, the area police departments could hold seminars directed towards gang awareness. Since not everybody will attend, a smaller packet could be sent out to area business owners and the rest of the community.

With the community's cooperation and support, we will be ready when a potential gang problem does exist.

Punishment excessive

Editor:

In your July 1 edition you had a letter to the editor written by Lauren R. Januz. In it, Januz suggested several severe punishments for certain crimes involving under-age alcohol to a minor should get a $10,000 fine, a 10-year suspension of their driving privileges, and a 90-day jail sentence. But isn't the punishment supposed to fit the crime?

Januz's ideas for legal actions for these offenses are extreme and unrealistic due to their costs and severity. For example, Vernon Hills and Mundelein give out about 10 tickets per week to adults for contributing to the delinquency of a minor in alcohol-related cases. Think of how much money this would cost Illinois taxpayers if we had to imprison these people for 90 days. It's easy to sit back and say throw them all in jail, but it's also unrealistic.

The fines Januz suggests are inappropriately high. For instance, if a person of legal drinking age is arrested in Illinois for DUI, the maximum fine for a first-time offense is $1,000. What Januz says is that adults who give minors alcohol should receive a fine ten times that amount.

As for store owners who sell liquor to minors, most times store employees don't realize the people purchasing the alcohol are underage, because a lot of minors have false identification.

What purpose would it serve to revoke a minor's driving privilege for 10 years? This seems like it would do more harm than good. They'd have no way to get to school or work, which could give them an excuse not to do either one.

Democrat pounds away at Crane

WHERE'S MIKE?

Where's Mike Kennedy? He wasn't in last month's Libertyville Days parade. And he was conspicuously absent from the Lake Forest Days parade a week later.

Both were must shows for politicians. His opponent was there.

But he was scheduled at the Lake County Fair—in the Democratic booth.

Who is Mike Kennedy that anyone should care? None other than the Democratic candidate for Congress in the 10th Dist. That's the area represented by Republican incumbent John Porter (R-Wilmette).

In sponsoring the young lawyer with heavyweight Chicago connections the Democrats hinted Porter's days were numbered.

If Kennedy's campaign to date is indicative of things to come, Porter can coast to another term.

The most Kennedy has done is turn out a press release supporting a woman's right to an abortion.

That's Porter's territory. A one-issue, pro-life Glenview idealist named Kathleen Sullivan tried to topple Porter in the primary. It didn't work.

Now, Kennedy will try.

Someone hinted Kennedy may be a sheep in wolf's clothing. His law firm, Novak and Macy, is representing the Federal Resolution Trust Corp. in the only three lawsuits filed against the many failed Illinois thrifts. They are Concordia Federal Savings, Libertyville Federal and downstate Macomb.

"Kennedy is getting Republican money to practice his trade while running as a Democrat," my caller said. "How's that for biting the hand that feeds you?"

GAME OF THE RICH

Last week I mentioned that golf is becoming a game of the Republican rich.

Cost is $75 or $150 to play at the party's annual open. The ritzy course is Midlane in Wadsworth. The cheapie is Countryside in Mundelein.

But when? Wednesday, Aug. 5. Apparently there must be a lot of Republicans in the medical profession. And, here, everyone thought they were lawyers.

If you've got the time, money and political persuasion, call GOP headquarters at (708) 680-6680.

PHIL UNDER ATTACK

Congressman Phil Crane of the 8th Dist. is taking his lumps again. This time it is from Palatine businesswoman Shelia Smith. She is running as a Democratic in the November election against the 23-year incumbent.

In the spring primary Republican Gary Skoien tried the same by laying a negative press release a day on Crane. It didn't happen.

Smith is picking up where Skoien left off. Her first broadside questions why Crane was among 73 of 413 representatives voting against cable TV regulation.

"This is another example of his routine siding with big business and neglecting constituents at home," she said.

Smith says customers in the 8th Dist. from Arlington Heights to Barrington and North Chicago to Antioch have been "gouged" with unjustified rate increases from monopolistic cable companies. "Enough is enough," the release pleads.

The bottom has this tagline: "Ms. Smith goes to Washington—"

Shades of Jimmy Stewart and his classic B&W movie by almost the same name.

My fair ladies 40 years working county fair

Goldie Fisher

Arvilla Petersen

Everyone loves the fair. As children, we'd ride the rides and eat corn-on-the-cob, cotton candy, look at the animals, and watch the rodeo. But we never thought of how fortunate we were to have the fun available to us.

Two people have been at least partially responsible for 40 years of pleasure the Lake County Fair has brought to local communities.

Goldie Fisher and Arvilla Petersen, mother and daughter, teamed up in 1952 to help out at the fair when it was held in Wauconda. They've stuck with it ever since.

"Bobby Paddock, from Volo, asked me to help out so I said sure, I'd try it," said Goldie, an 83-year-old homemaker. "They asked if I knew anybody who could help so I brought my daughter."

Arvilla was a grade-school teacher back then, but being off in the summer, she agreed to help as well.

"The wind blew and the papers flew," Arvilla said. "We'd try to get them and just hope we had all the entries."

That was when the office portion of the fair was operated from a card table and folding chairs under a tent. The tents would be put up each morning and taken down each night, and flaps were folded down to avoid winds. There were no permanent buildings then. Exhibits were held in "the little white schoolhouse" at Wauconda Elementary School.

Since then, the Lake County Fair moved to Antioch and then to Grayslake, where it has been for 36 years, and Arvilla and Goldie, Wauconda residents, moved with it.

"These ladies have been through every condition out here," said Mary Gunia, executive secretary of the Lake County Fair Association.

"I've gone home in the rain on more than one occasion," Goldie adds.

Not only have they endured some of the worst weather, Goldie and Arvilla have been more than helpful to the exhibitors.

"They've sure made a dent making sure that everything is right for the exhibitors," Gunia said. "They (the exhibitors) keep coming back."

"That's the fun of it," Arvilla said. "Seeing how people have grown through the years; some of them first entered when they were 10-years-old."

Goldie especially likes the domestic art.

by HEATHER MCDONALD

"It's fancy stuff," she said. But she was born and raised on a farm, so her favorite part of the fair is the livestock, and it's also what she misses.

"They used to have parades of the grand champion steers and cattle," she said. "They used to put up fences and tie (the livestock) up. You had to take them home at night."

Today, livestock animals are brought to the fairgrounds the day before the fair and are held there until the end of the fair. Not only that, but the livestock comes from other counties and out-of-state.

"If it weren't for those entries, the livestock show wouldn't be good," Arvilla said. "Farms just aren't in this area anymore."

Despite the rural community and small size of the fair in the '50s, there were some fancy shows put on, and everyone loved them.

"There are people who look forward to it (the fair). But back then, it was all we had to look forward to. It was 'The Thing.'"

—Arvilla Petersen

"I wish they still had the (Shetland) pony shows with the carts," Goldie said. "Women would get dressed up in fancy attire, it was a big show."

But that has changed. Even the attitude of the fair has changed with its growth.

"There are people who look forward to it (the fair)," said Arvilla. "But back then, it was all we had to look forward to. It was 'The Thing.'"

Now we have bungee jumping, and a wide assortment of carnival rides available. People still go to see the livestock shows, but there's much more to the Lake County Fair today. Part of the reason for that is because Arvilla and Goldie have walked the extra miles to bring fun and pleasurable events and shows to the fair.

Goldie has decided that this will be her last.

"It's about time Goldie left," Goldie said. "Let the younger generation take over."

Director Gene Kulin said Goldie will be well missed.

"Her smile and congeniality makes people happy to be here," he said.

Most of the women in the offices have been working together for 35-40 years, Arvilla said. So when Goldie leaves, a part of the family will be gone.

Gone maybe, but certainly not forgotten.

Makeover July '92

It's a dog eat dog world out there, so take Fenwick's lead and get prepared.

Elizabeth Schneider of Antioch sent in a picture of Fenwick, a poodle and labrador mix, pleading with us to "to make him beautiful."

"His mother was a purebred poodle," Elizabeth explains. "She got into the neighbor's back yard and met a purebred labrador. She had five brown and five black puppies."

The Schneider's saw an ad in the paper for the free puppies and decided to answer it.

"We went to Barrington and saw the whole litter," Elizabeth said. "But we didn't pick Fenwick, he picked us; he wouldn't let us leave!"

As our choice for the makeover, we hauled Fenwick 40 minutes to Zion where Pampered Pooch Parlour awaited him. After a quick "fireplug" stop, Fenwick loped into the fashion opportunity of a lifetime.

Margaret, owner and groomer of Pampered Pooch, took one look at Fenwick and decided, "I think we'll do an Airedale cut on him."

Elizabeth smiled and nodded her okay and Fenwick was taken to the grooming table.

Fenwick seemed to say, "Uh, uh! I'm not getting up there!" He soon conquered his fear of the three-foot high table when Margaret lifted him onto it.

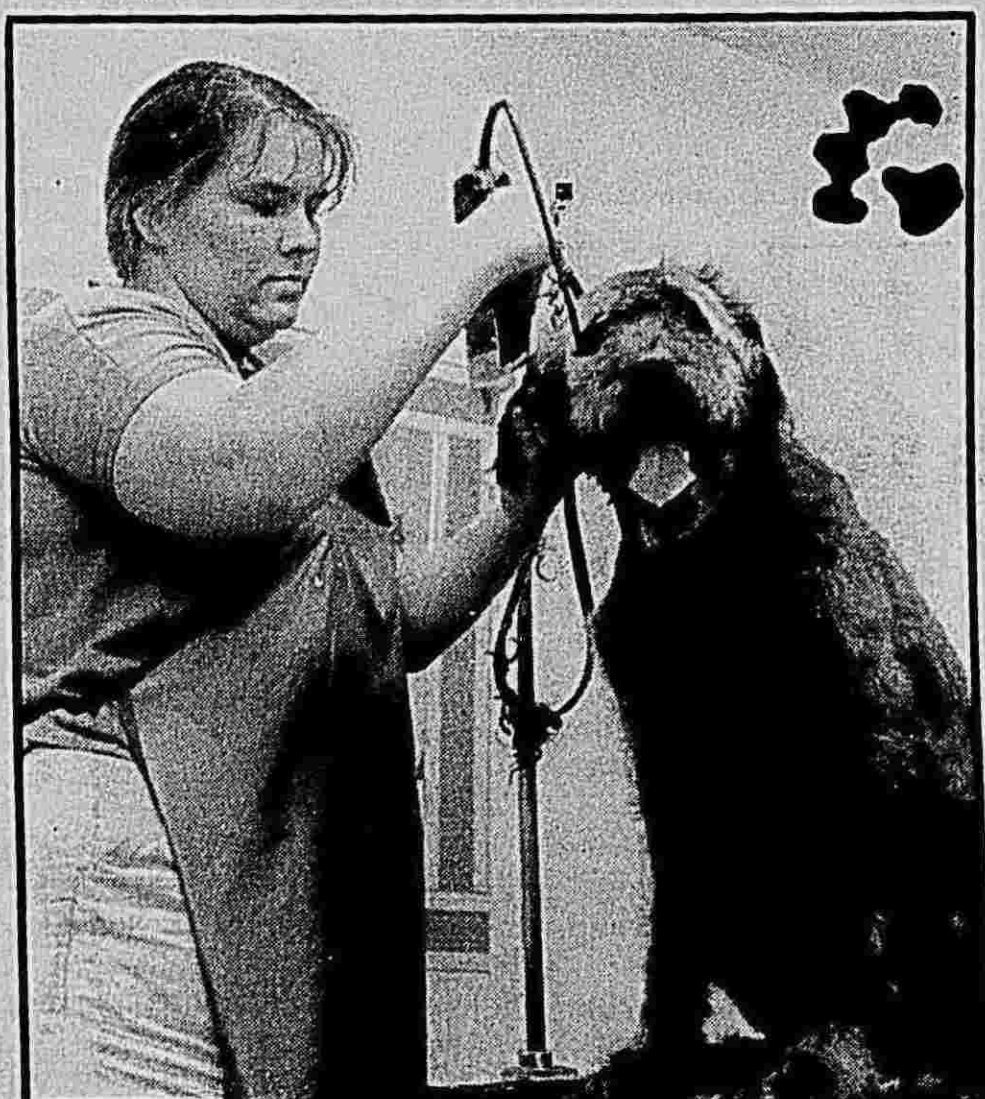

Fenwick was strapped in and the ride began.

Margaret started the preliminary cut with a 7-inch blade. This cut eliminates matted hair and tangles before the wash.

Fenny down with a mixture of doggy shampoo and Suave. Fenwick was a little wary of the bath, but Rich's expert hands soothed him.

"They don't like their ears or face being touched," Rich said.

After the shower, the longest part of Fenwick's makeover took place. His thick hair needed to be dried thoroughly before any more cutting could occur.

"With such a thick coat, the main portion of grooming usually is drying the dog," said Margaret.

Fenwick assisted the process by shaking his fur and giving everyone else a pleasant bath. Hoses were then connected to a huge vacuum-like structure, making a dog-sized hair-dryer.

The entire procedure, pre-cut, wash and dry, took nearly an hour.

Looking "suave" and smelling good, Fenwick hopped back onto the cutting table, where Margaret continued his grooming with a 7F blade.

"The 7F blade is used after the wash," explained groomer Melissa Smith. "It cuts the hair shorter and smoother."

Margaret shaved off the excess portions of hair on Fenwick's back and neck, but she left the hair on his hind legs long.

"There really isn't enough of a skirt," she said. Airedales usually have a natural growth of hair on the stomach that gives the groomed animal a "skirt-like" appearance.

Margaret then took special care and detail in forming the beard and eyebrows with a surgical-quality shaving blade.

"It is possible to cut the flesh of the dogs when you are cutting so close to the face,"

Shaggy dog sheds hairy image

Margaret said. "But, if you're careful, it doesn't happen," she added.

The finishing touches were added with the fine grooming of Fenwick's paws.

"A lot of dogs are passive to begin with, like they don't care," said Melissa.

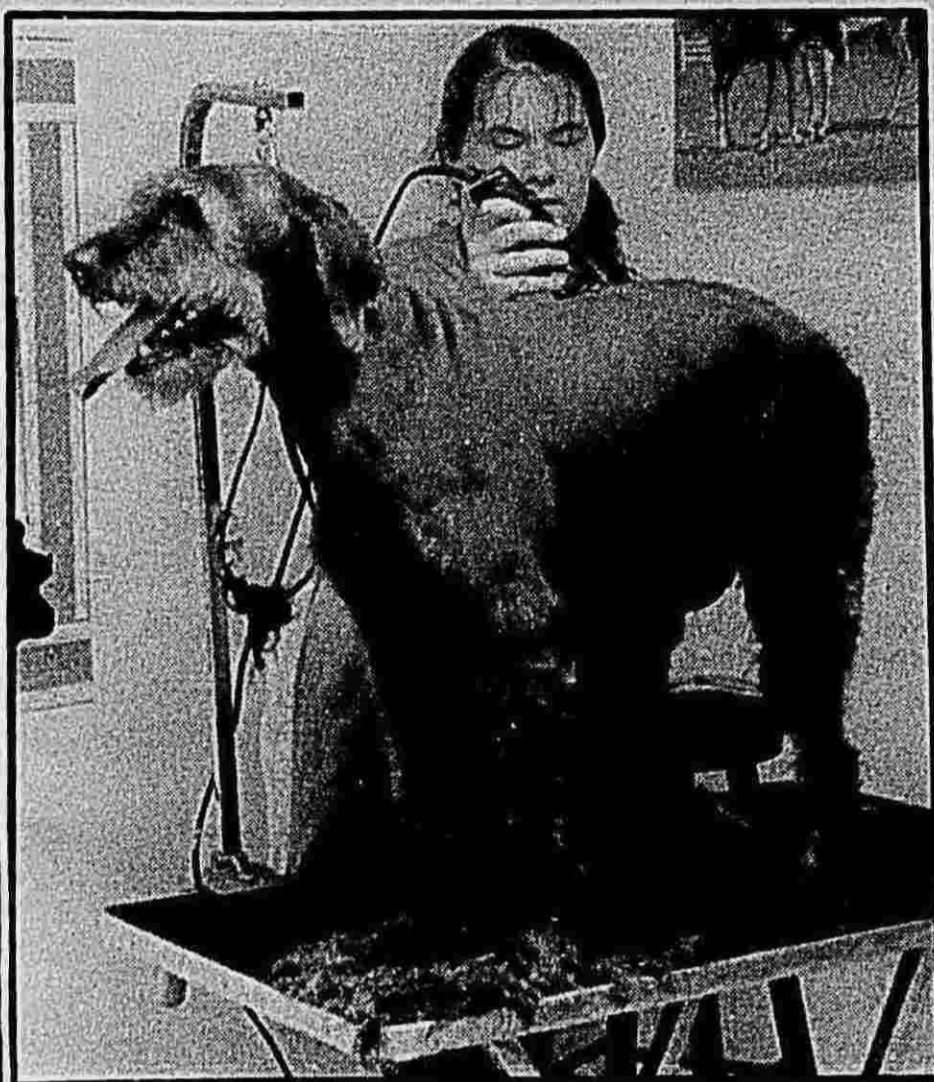

"Afterwards though, they act a lot happier."

Fenwick strutted out of his "beauty salon" followed closely by a smiling Elizabeth.

"You're good looking," she said as she cupped his face in her hands. "Yeah, y'are!"

Next stop — Four Paws Training Center in Antioch, where Fenwick posed in handsome accessories from Pet Food Outlet in Mundelein.

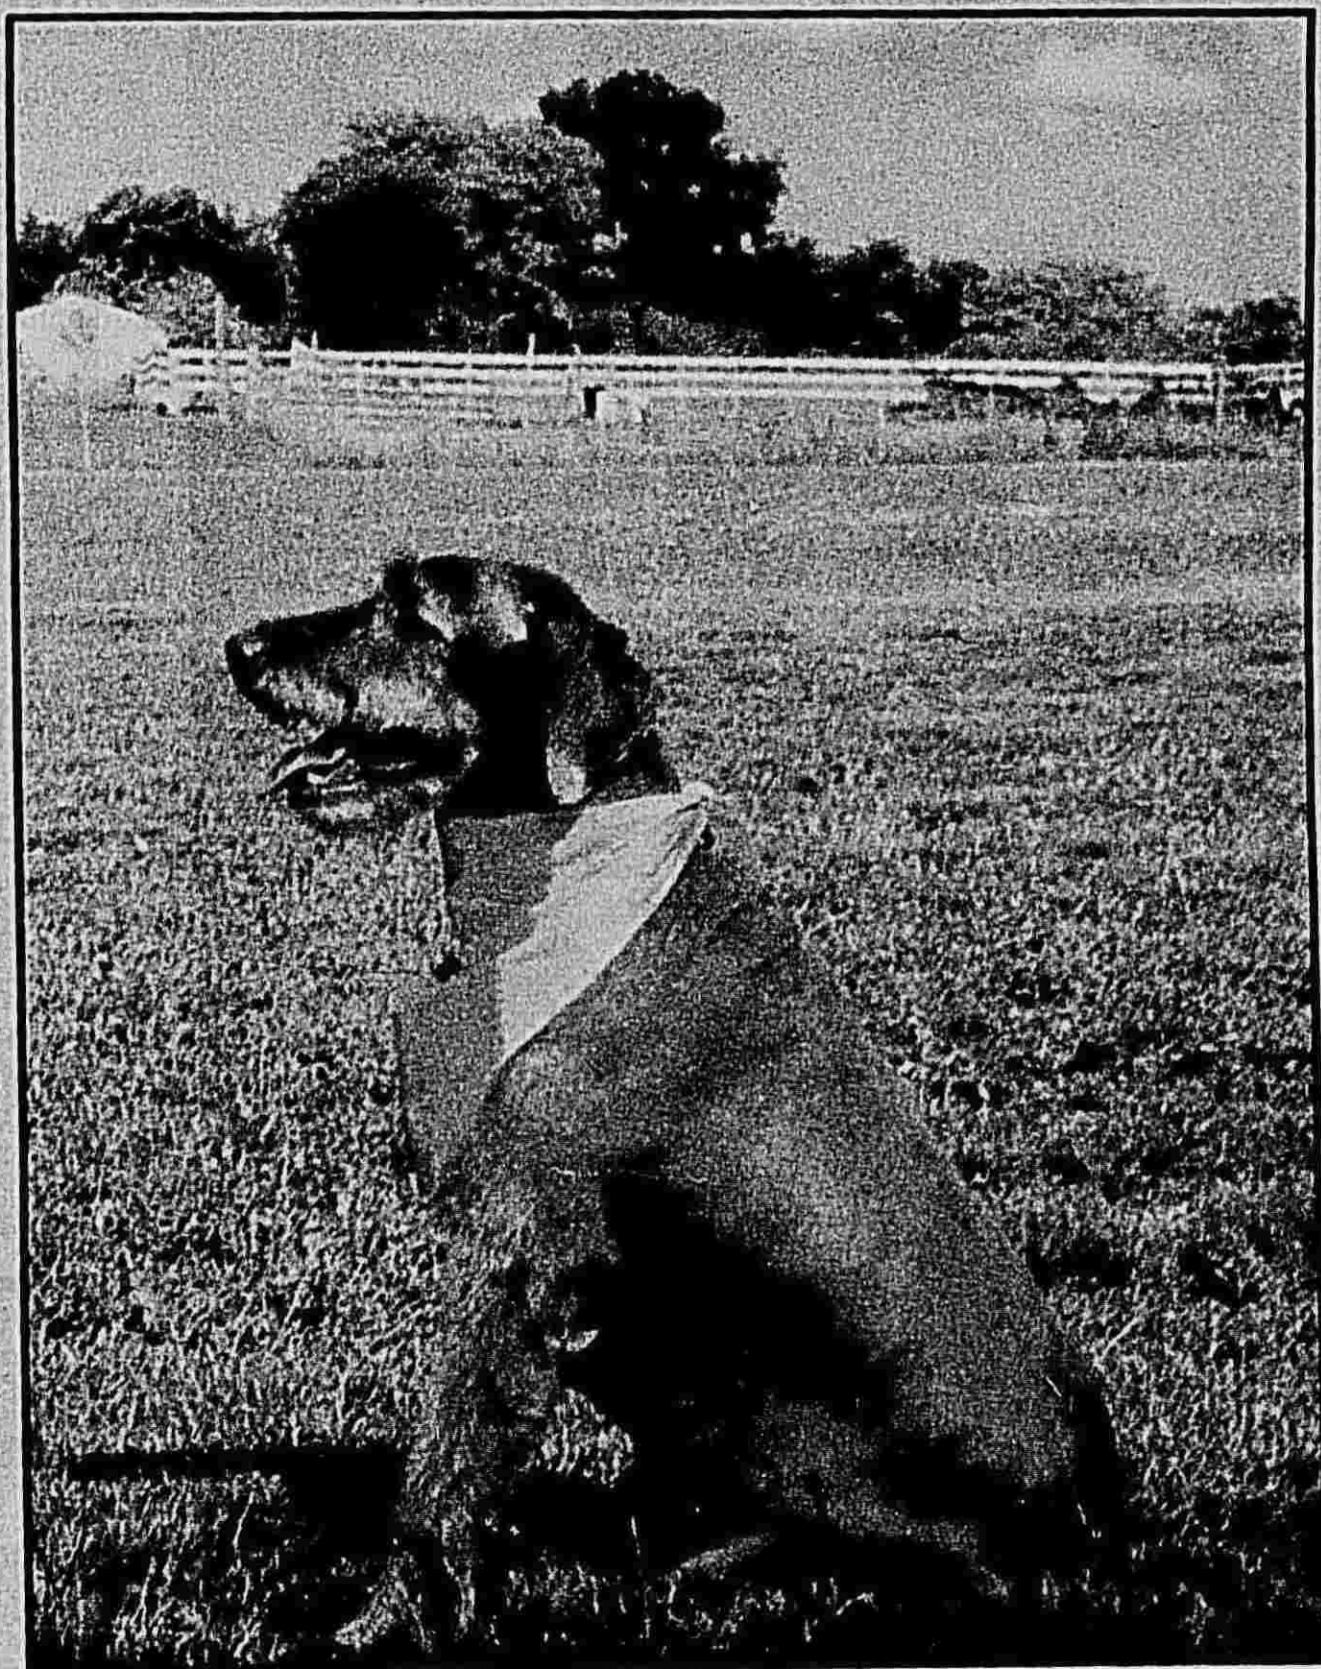

After a long day, Fenwick's ready for a night on the town, now that he's out of the doghouse!

August's Makeover will be Back-to-School! If you or someone you know fits this category send a photo to Claudia M. Lenart, c/o Lakeland Newspapers, 30 S. Whitney St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Accept responsibility at home, with partnerships, and with finances, at the first crack of the week. There is definitely a wild factor loose, and it could have an impact in all these areas.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Talk, make resolutions about how things are going to be, and know that a plug could be pulled at any time. This is a test to see how flexible you are. The next few weeks give you a readout on how your year is going.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Reflect on what could make your life better. What you find out is that strong action needs to be taken. Conversation, debating, and considering take up a large part of your week. Do some soul-searching before you leap.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your magnetic appeal is high, high, high! If you count only on this though, your week could go steadily downhill. Maximize your talents, and know others are in an uproar. A nurturing approach wins the day. Expect a hectic pace toward the weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) You need to think carefully before leaping madly into action this week. Decisions made could be significant, though expect them to be thoroughly tested this week, too. Make time for a talk with a family member, roommate, or neighbor.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Be more upbeat and happy about news that is forthcoming. You may need to mull over a decision carefully before acting on it. You know which way to go and what you want. Keep conversations extremely loving, and you'll perk happily through the weekend.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Use enormous caution around your more possessive and needy side. You could do some self-sabotaging, if you are not careful. Be mysterious and allow another to come to you. Questions asked allow you to get a grasp of where another is coming from.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) You have a very hard time settling in this week, and with good reason — you're full of daydreams and fantasies. You're happiest with large groups of friends, rather than with just one person.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Be sensitive to a loved one and their concerns. You find yourself, one more time, in heavy money negotiations. Be careful and loosen up — you may be creating your own demons here. You're on the scene all weekend long, but really do enjoy.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Decisions made this week could have an impact on finances and partners. Open yourself up to the unusual which pops up in your life. Plan on a wonderful weekend away, where you escape and enjoy.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Focus on work, because once the more playful side of you emerges this week, you won't be able to settle down. Listen to your instincts regarding a partner or money matter. The need for intimacy and intensity is high this weekend and demands attention.

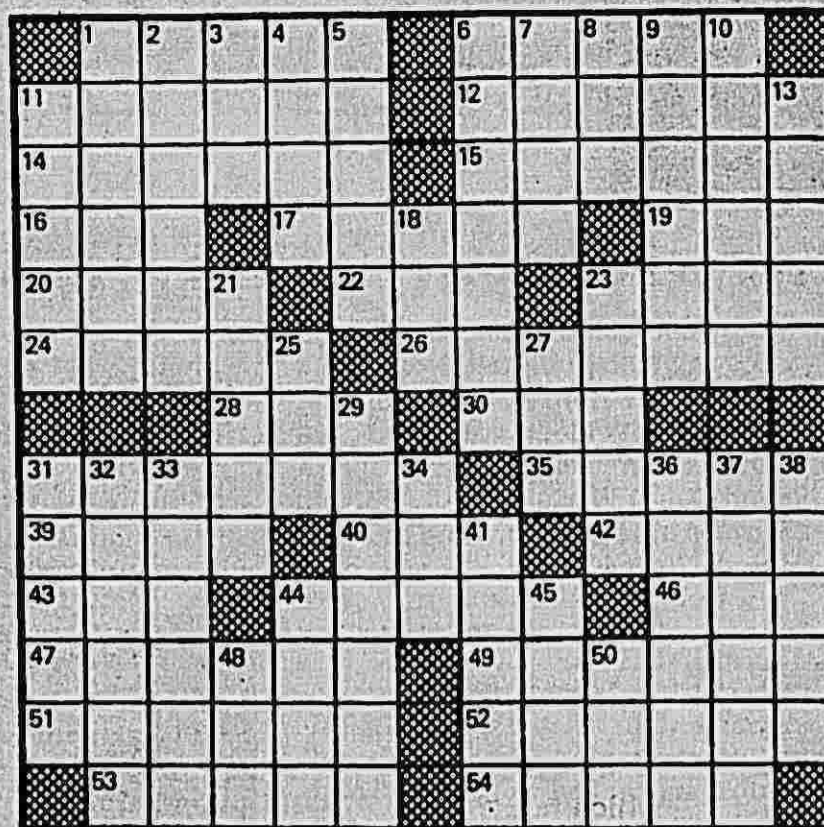

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Who you are, and what you are about, comes out. Be more forthright about what you are doing and what you expect at work. You launch into the weekend early. Enjoy. Relationships are very special right now.

Las Vegas Becoming A Family Affair

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

First there was Circus Circus with its trapeze acts, jugglers and an entire floor of games just for the kids. Then came Excalibur, the fairytale castle-like hotel with more live acts and games for the whole family.

Now MGM is building a family hotel and theme park just across from the Excalibur. The folks that brought you the Circus Circus and the Excalibur are building another family resort to be known as the Luxor.

Once the exclusive playground of the over 21 crowd, Vegas is quickly becoming a popular choice for a family vacation, and for good reason.

Hotel rates are among the lowest in the country. Food is also a bargain with all you can eat family buffets costing under $5. Just the thing for the hungry teens.

Now that we've got the food and housing covered, how do we keep the kids entertained?

A visit to the Ethel M Chocolate Factory is a must. Ethel M is Ethel Mars of Mars candy fame. Ethel's Maiden name is Hershey, a family synonymous with chocolate. Ethel produces a line of gourmet liqueur filled chocolates not available this side of the Mississippi. Free tours of both the factory, as well as Ethel's cactus garden, are given daily.

Only 11 miles west of Las Vegas is The Red Rock Canyon featuring a 13 mile scenic drive with plenty of look-out points so the kids can get out and do a little rock climbing.

Just past Red Rock Canyon is a reconstructed western town called "Old Nevada" where the kids can see a couple of gunfighters shoot-it-out.

Wet'n Wild is right on the strip for a day of cooling water fun. Also offering water activities is Lake Mead, created by the man-made wonder known as Hoover Dam.

If that's not enough family fun, the Grand Canyon is only about 300 miles away making it a good choice for an overnight trip.

Murphy better in 'Boomerang'—getting back into the groove

When Eddie Murphy first hit the comedy scene on TV's "Saturday Night Live," he was a smart aleck, but he was hysterically funny. Then he went on to Super-Stardom as he captured huge audiences on the big screen in such hysterical and enjoyable films like "Beverly Hills Cop," "Trading Places," and "48 Hours."

After that, Murphy's cocky attitude turned into arrogance and when he came out with "Another 48 Hours," "Harlem Nights," and "Coming to America," all of which failed miserably, his new-found superior attitude was a large contributor.

Now we have a new Murphy release in "Boomerang," which is a vast improvement over his last few flicks, but still not up to his starting speed.

Murphy is the epitome of male chauvinists as a womanizing advertising mogul who loves to love 'em and leave 'em.

Then, ala Old Blue Eyes' 1960's "Tender Trap," he falls in love with Robin Givens who quickly turns the tables on him by loving him and leaving him — with a dried out dinner he had cooked for her before she stood him up for hours.

When Murphy plays the chauvinist, he is at his best and his funniest. One would tend to think that this is the real "Eddie."

One of the problems here is that Murphy just can't stop abusing the English language with an over abundance of crass four-letter words. Hey Eddie, 'Eddie Murphy-Raw,' is old news.

We couldn't accept him as the love-bug-bitten pathetic male, even though there are some pretty good laughs here.

Givens steals the show with her assured and polished performance and the other most interesting parts of the film were the other women in Murphy's life, a sexy senior, Ertha Kitt, who plays a client, and Grace Jones, who sports the fitting name of Strange.

What we have here is a woman, Givens playing her role to the hilt, and Murphy getting a three-base hit on a "pitch-er" that had home run potential.

We give "Boomerang," three out of five stars. You're doing better, Eddie, lets get back in your old funny groove."—by GLORIA DAVIS

Beta Carotene improves eyesight, deters aging

Here's to Health

Almost every place that sells vitamins sells a capsule called Beta Carotene. What is it, and why take it?

Webster's definition of Carotene is, "a yellow, orange, or red pigment found in some plant and animal tissues; stored in the liver and kidney and converted into Vitamin A in the body."

Beta Carotene is a natural vegetable nutrient that converts into active vitamin A in your body. This regulated process prevents an excess of vitamin A. It works with other natural protectors to defend your cells from harmful free radical damage. And what are free radicals? They are "unstable destructive molecules due to pollutants in the air, food and water." They are also present in cells when the body burns food to generate energy.

Free radicals damage cell membranes, DNA, and RNA. DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) and RNA (ribonucleic acid) are our nucleic acids. DNA, according to Earl Mindell's Vitamin Bible, "is essentially a chemical boiler-plate for new cells. It sends out RNA molecules like a team of well-trimmed workers to form them. When DNA stops giving the orders to RNA, new cell construction ceases—as does life." The idea, then, is to keep the body well supplied with nucleic acids. Although Beta Carotene is not the greatest supplier, it is quite helpful, and as stated above, is a defender and protector from the damaging effects of free radicals.

There are many claims to the value of Beta Carotene. Some of them include improved eyesight, cancer preventive, lung reparation after smoking, an improved immune system, and as a deterrent to the aging process. Newly released studies reported to the American Heart Assn. has shown that eating fruits and vegetables rich in Beta Carotene may significantly reduce a person's risk of having a stroke or a heart attack. The amount needed is minimal.

A suggestion is to eat foods rich in Beta Carotene. Among the best, rich in Beta Carotene, includes carrots, spinach, fish liver oil, liver, green and yellow vegetables, eggs, milk and dairy products, margarine, and yellow fruits. Take no more than 2 capsules (6 mg.) (10,000 I.U.) a day. Or take one 25,000 I.U. (15 mg.) each day. Many multi-vitamins now have Beta Carotene as one of its ingredients. Take them with a meal, for best absorption.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to use this natural supplement, (or food sources) to eliminate the need for cataract surgery, to ward off diseases, and to counter-attack toxins? I won't guarantee it, but Beta Carotene is easily accessible, and I encourage one to give it a try. The words of caution are like instant replay, if you've been a reader of this column, but it's necessary mention once again, to check with your doctor. Also check if you're taking any B complex shots or vitamins.

I've had excellent health, and feel that in part, that Beta Carotene has been a factor. I'm not sure, but I think that my night vision has improved as well. Do you want to know more about this subject? There are booklets and pamphlets at your Health Food store. I wish you well!—by MARLENE BROWN

Tex Beneke began his long career as a member of the legendary Glenn Miller Orchestra. He later went on to form his own group, keeping alive many of Miller's songs including "Moonlight Serenade," "Strings of Pearls," and "In the Mood."

Multi-talented singer Helen O'Connell, well-known for such hits as "Green Eyes" and "Tangerine" while a soloist with the Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, performs those favorites and several others as part of the "Summer of '42" tour. Also familiar to television audiences as one of the early hosts of NBC's "Today" show and as moderator of the "Miss Universe Pageant" for nine years, O'Connell brings her own unique Jack Krupka, owner of Jack & Lidia's Resort.

Jack Grattan, owner of Grattan's Wharf.

On east shore of Deep Lake, Jacks are wild

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

A pair of Jacks — sometimes a little wild — is good enough to get a big hand on the east side of Deep Lake.

That's Jack Grattan, owner of Grattan's Wharf, and Jack Krupka, owner of Jack & Lidia's Resort. Both businesses occupy lakeside territory along Edgewood Avenue in unincorporated Lake Villa.

'I love to B.S. — it's part of my M.O.'

— Jack Grattan

Grattan, a descendent of Irish stock, opened the Wharf in appropriate fashion on St. Patrick's Day in 1989.

Although he's a fairly recent addition to the Deep Lake neighborhood, Grattan's no stranger to entrepreneurialism. In the '60s, he opened two eating-and-drinking establishments close to Wrigley Field: The Irish Pub and Sir Gallagher's. His bread and butter for the last 30 years, however, has been Jack Grattan Enterprises, a construction company based in Riverwoods.

Grattan started out as a plastering apprentice and ended up working on projects all over the country. Eventually, he decided to become the master of his own fate.

"I just wanted to do it on my own," Grattan said. "I enjoyed being my own boss. If I wanted to take a day off, I took a day off."

Now there's another consideration for the silver-haired Grattan.

"At my age, I couldn't get a job if I wanted to."

Although they'd been constant companions for over two decades, Jack and his wife Joyce are relative newlyweds, tying the knot about a year-and-a-half ago. He said they had more than eyes for each other when the Wharf was for sale.

"We took a look at the view and saw the area and fell in love with it."

The affable Grattan also loves being the host.

"I love to B.S. — it's part of my M.O.," Grattan said. "I have a lot of fun talking with different people. I've made a lot of friends and met a lot of people."

Grattan's Wharf specializes in seafood, but the menu is loaded with other options, including pasta dishes.

"It's fish-oriented, of course, but we have steaks and chops," Grattan said. "We have a variety of food, and it's all good."

That last statement prefaces Grattan's business philosophy: "If they don't like it, don't pay for it."

The Wharf — which includes a deck overlooking the lake for alfresco dining — serves lunch Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Lunch and dinner are served Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. The fully stocked bar is open until the wee hours, and live entertainment is often provided on the weekends. Sally Dudick manages the restaurant.

While Grattan's has a good following of faithful regulars, most of the customers at Jack & Lidia's Resort have a common bond. The resort is a weekend mecca for many members of Chicago's large Polish community. In fact, Polish is the language most heard, and more than one polka tune has wafted from the lounge.

Krupka, his mother Pola and his sister Lidia came to Chicago from Poland in 1972. Two years later, they bought the resort.

"It was advertised in a Polish newspaper," Krupka said. "It said it was a big opportunity for a hard-working family."

As it turned out, it was — and is — a handful.

"All the buildings were here, but we had to refurbish them one by one, including the bar."

Krupka and his sister are co-owners of the resort. He said he enjoys setting his own agenda.

"There are less hassles and no arguments. I don't have to answer to anybody."

But if the truth be known, the power is Pola.

"Ma is still the boss — she calls the shots," Krupka said.

Jack and Lidia's Resort offers days of sunshine and blue skies on the water and evenings of revelry and entertainment in the lounge. Visitors can picnic, swim, rent fishing boats, play horseshoes and volleyball or just relax and socialize.

"The majority of the people are Polish," Krupka said. "It's an escape to the country for them for the weekend."

Krupka, too, likes playing the host. An accomplished accordionist, he does some of the entertaining himself and has his own band.

"I meet a lot of different people — interesting people," he said.

In addition to the resort, Krupka has fingers in several pies. His wife Anna runs Spotless Cleaning and Janitorial Services, which takes care of some industrial-size tasks. Over the years, Krupka also has bought up rental properties around the resort. The combination of endeavors has enabled him to build two new houses — one for him and his family and one for his mother.

Krupka, 36, set a goal of retirement at 40, and it "still stands," he said. That's not bad for a guy who didn't speak English when he first saw America.

What will he do with all that free time?

"I don't worry about that — I'll find something," he said.

Jack and Lidia realize business can be a give-and-take situation. Over the last three years, they've contributed $5,000 toward stocking the lake with fish.

The success of a resort is based upon good weather, and this has been a bummer of a summer.

"It's ridiculous — it's been the worst summer. It's all because of that guy (Grattan) next door," Krupka said. "It's all

'Ma is still the boss — she calls the shots.'

— Jack Krupka

his fault. He brought the bad weather."

Krupka was kidding, of course, about the Polish-Irish connection. The two Jacks have become good friends.

"I send people down there to eat, and after they eat at his place, they stop by for a drink here," Krupka said.

The same sentiment came from Grattan.

"When we were first remodeling this place, it took a year to get through the red tape," Grattan said. "We'd go down there (to Jack and Lidia's) and socialize. We got to know each other well and helped each other out. Jack and I get along pretty good — he's quite a character."

Jack and Lidia's Resort is open seven days a week, and you don't have to be Polish to have a good time.

Ford sales increase in June

June sales of new Ford cars and trucks reported by Ford's Chicago regional offices were 11 percent above those recorded during June last year.

James Gwaltney, manager of the local region, said it was the second consecutive month this year for a sales upswing—13 percent for cars and nine percent for trucks—compared with 1991.

"The hottest vehicle lines at Chicago region Ford dealerships were Taurus (sales up 81 percent), F-Series pickups (up 43 percent) and Explorer (up 29 percent)," he said.

Non-U.S. stocks can reduce portfolio risk

by T. R. GAERTNER

In the past, and all too often today, the American investor thought of stock investing only in terms of the U.S. stock market. The time has come for every investor to consider the opportunities of the world's stock markets.

Today, 60 percent of all stock market opportunities lay in non-U.S. stock markets. That was not always the case. As recently as 1967, U.S. stocks represented 70 percent of the world stock market capitalization. Today, U.S. stocks represent only 40 percent of the world market capitalization. This means the global stock investment opportunities have doubled over the past 25 years.

International stock funds tend to be more volatile than the U.S. stock funds because there are two forces moving the price of the international stock fund. First there is the fluctuation caused by the changes in the value of the underlying stocks. Second, there are the changes in the foreign currency values relative to the U.S. dollar.

Volatility reduced

However, this non-U.S. stock volatility does not necessarily translate into more portfolio risk. To the contrary, when combined with a portfolio of U.S. stocks, the overall portfolio volatility tends to be reduced.

For example, a portfolio of 100 percent U.S. stocks has a standard deviation (a measure of volatility) of approximately 17. A portfolio of 100 percent non-U.S. stocks has a standard deviation of approximately 20.

However, when blended together, a 60 percent U.S. and 40 percent non-U.S. stock portfolio has a standard deviation of approximately 13. This represents a 23.5 percent decrease in the volatility of the 100 percent U.S. stock portfolio. At the same time, the 60/40 portfolio ratio increases the investment return by approximately 8.3 percent over the 100 percent U.S. stock portfolio.

The reason for this reduction of volatility is that the U.S. stocks and the non-U.S. stocks often move in opposite directions. Often when the U.S. stock market is declining, the non-U.S. markets are advancing and visa versa.

This Way to Wealth

The reason the investment return was greater with the 60/40 portfolio than the 100 percent U.S. stock portfolio was that economic growth rates tend to be higher outside the U.S.

Better values

There are also some compelling reasons why investing outside the U.S. makes particularly good sense today. The non-U.S. markets have lagged the U.S. markets for three consecutive years. That has happened only once before in the past 30 years, from 1963 through 1965.

Because the non-U.S. markets have under performed for the past three years, many non-U.S. stocks now offer better value. For example, European stocks as a group are trading at a discount of more than 25 percent relative to U.S. stocks based on book value and at a discount of more than 35 percent based on earnings.

Lower interest rates in the U.S. have translated into higher stock prices. Many analysts believe that the same lowering of interest rates will happen in other major countries and that their stocks will benefit.

Let's assume that you have decided to take the plunge and begin to add international stocks to your portfolio. Where do you start?

I strongly recommend that you invest through a strong mutual fund family. One that has the enormous resources needed to perform the research in many countries to make the right investment decisions on a global basis.

Foreign stocks

If you already have significant exposure to the U.S. stock market, you should look to an "International" fund which will invest in stocks only outside of the U.S. If, on the other hand, you do not have many stocks in your portfolio, you should consider a "Global" fund which will include both U.S. and non-U.S. stocks. Your financial advisor can help you make the right choice.

Guide to controlling insects

• Selection. Try to select varieties that have been bred to resist common pests.

• Early prevention. Eliminate pests as you see them forming. Control the earliest arrivals while they are few in number.

• Traps. There are hundreds of types of traps for many pests ranging from crumpled paper or upside-down empty flower pots, to trap earwigs, to elaborately constructed traps, both homemade and commercially available at the local garden center. Pheromone traps help prevent insects from breeding.

• Nature. Encourage the "good bugs" to move into the neighborhood. Lady bugs, praying mantises, dragonflies, and wasps can be your allies along with the birds and frogs. They will thrive if you don't kill them off with unnecessary area-wide sprays.

• Companion gardening. Many people believe that plants such as onions and garlic discourage aphids. Planting radishes around squash and cucumbers may chase off the cucumber beetle, and marigolds can reduce nematodes in vegetable gardens.

• Sanitation. Discourage grey mold and other fungous diseases by giving plants good light and air movement. Avoid overcrowding or planting in dank, dark corners. Remove dead or diseased plants or foliage and other garden trash.

One of the most common garden pests is the aphid. A large family of lady bugs in the area will usually take control of this pest. If not, a strong jet of water from the hose will help knock them off the plants (be careful not to harm delicate plants in the process). On low-growing plants, try placing clean aluminum foil—shiny side up—on the ground around the plant. The sun's reflection confuses the aphid and usually sends him packing.

Recommended pesticides will vary in different climates and from state to state. One of the safest pesticides is Bacillus thuringiensis, a good biological control for the organic gardener. Marketed under a variety of trade names, B.T. (as it is commonly known) kills only caterpillars with alkaline stomachs, such as canker worms and tomato worms. While it won't affect aphids, it also won't harm ladybugs, birds, dogs or people. Insecticidal soaps and light horticultural oils are safe and effective if used according to instructions.

The final solution is to find a different type of plant, one the pests don't like.

Running out of landfill space

America is running out of landfill space. Every year, we deposit 150 million tons of solid waste into shrinking landfill sites. Yard waste comprises over 20 percent of what is being dumped, and grass clippings account for more than a third of that yard waste. That means that over 10 percent of America's solid waste is grass clippings, usually packaged in decomposition-resistant plastic bags.

There is an easy solution to the grass clippings problem, and it's called grasscycling. This simple process returns valuable nutrients to the earth, helps to control refuse hauling costs, and preserve landfill space, and leaves you with a more attractive lawn that is easier to maintain.

Grasscycling is the process of simply leaving the clippings on your lawn after mowing. Instead of collecting and bagging the clippings for trash pick up, you let them stay on the lawn. Not only is this less work for the homeowner, it also saves landfill space and returns vital nutrients to the soil and turf.

There has been some concern that grasscycling leads to thatch build-up. This isn't the case though, because thatch is primarily composed of grass roots - not blades. As the clipped blades decay, they benefit the lawn by recycling fertilizer back into the soil.

You don't need a special mower to grasscycle, but there are special mulching mowers available that chop the grass blades extra fine. Conversion kits are also available for changing a bagging mower into a mulching mower.

A simple change in your mowing routine can mean a healthier lawn for you, and less curbside waste for your community. Since many cities across the country are actually banning yard waste from landfills, grasscycling is an easy solution for clippings disposal.

Bark mulch beautifies, insulates plants naturally

Mulch is not only insulation for your plants, but it provides an attractive instant "facelift" for your property as well, according to plant experts. Good quality bark mulch protects and beautifies in the following ways:

- Water conservation—reduces evaporation caused by heat and wind by as much as 50 percent.

- Weed control—provides a physical barrier to weeds and cools the soil to discourage weeds from germinating.

- Soil temperature regulation—provides a better growing environment for plants.

- Erosion control—prevents surface runoff and traps water to soak into the soil.

- Improved appearance—gives a "manicured" look for more attractive plantings.

- Soil compaction—reduces compaction, especially in heavy foot traffic areas.

- Added organic value—as bark mulch decomposes, it enriches the soil by adding organic matter and making the surface crumbly.

- Disease reduction—prohibits water from splashing from bare soil to plant leaves, carrying disease.

Experts recommend applying mulch at least two inches deep; three to four inches will give best results. Application is easy. Begin by determining the borders of your beds. Use a spade to dig down along the perimeter and remove all grass and weeds. Cultivate or "break up" the bare soil and spread three to four inches of bark mulch over the surface. For a more textured, natural look, apply larger nuggets to the top layer. Mulches should be added each year to replenish the supply that has decomposed and to improve the bed's appearance.

Plastic films are not strongly recommended because they are unattractive cause excessive increases in soil temperatures, and give poor air and water exchange.

Bark is 100 percent organic and nontoxic, according to a report from the U.S. Agricultural Forest Service. Experts recommend bark mulch for use on any ornamental or garden planting. Fertilizer may be applied on top of the mulch and washed in. There is no need to rake back the mulch.

Bark mulch comes in several forms:

- Pine bark is processed in chunks of various sizes. It is longer lasting than most other bark mulches and offers a pleasant brown color.

- Cypress bark—is fibrous in nature. It is slow to decompose and ranges in color from a light brown to orange-red.

- Hardwood bark—is also fibrous in nature, but decomposes more rapidly than cypress or pine bark. Which type of bark to choose is largely a matter of personal preference. Because pine and cypress are more resistant to decay, they are a better buy than hardwoods when equally priced.

The size of nuggets to choose is based on personal preference as well. Keep in mind, however, that the very large chunk pine is better suited for walkways rather than as a plant mulch.

Grow a scent-sational garden

For centuries, fragrances have been known to hold great powers over men and women, arousing emotions and triggering memories. Musk has been used to arouse the libido, chamomile to induce sleep, lavender to ease sore muscles, and sweet herbs toward off pestilence. The Garden Council suggests planting your own fragrance garden. By choosing the right combination of flowers, herbs and foliage, create a garden that smells as beautiful as it looks.

Don't judge a plant simply by its appearance. Quite often, plants that have put all of their energy into a brilliant blossom will have little or no perfume, while simpler blooms will burst with fragrance. The modest mignonette is an example.

Different types of plants release their fragrance in a variety of ways. The sweet scent of violets, musk roses, and sweetbriars floats abroad on the breeze, while roses, lilacs and primroses hold their scent close within their petals. There are also plants which "perform" only at night. Night-blooming jasmine, evening primrose, night-scented stocks and moonflowers fill the evening air with unforgettable perfume. Some plants need to be coaxed to emit their scent. Herbs generally fit into this category; their leaves need to be brushed against, bruised or crushed before they are willing to release their hearty fragrance.

The Garden Council suggests using herbs to pave a garden pathway. Such a path provides a delightful aroma as you stroll and needs little maintenance. Chamomile and creeping varieties of thyme and mint are an excellent alternative to grass.

Other aromatic herbs to include in the fragrance garden are basil, chives, rosemary, fennel, tarragon, lemon balm, lemon verbena and lavender.

There are also many wonderfully scented vines and climbers to plant, especially if space is limited. Install a trellis positioned to let the breezes blow through. Popular fragrant climbers include roses, sweet autumn clematis, jasmine and star or confederate jasmine, honeysuckle and white wisteria.

A bench in a sheltered corner of the garden will offer restful moments of sensory enjoyment. Plant herbs such as lavender and chamomile around the seat and use jasmine and climbing roses trained over a wire cupola for shade.

Plant a hedge surrounding your fragrance garden to provide a barrier against winds that could disperse your garden perfume. This also helps set the area apart from other garden plantings, creating a quiet retreat.

From Zion-Benton to Barcelona

Lake County's own Olympian takes to the mat next week

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County's own Olympic champion has something to prove next week. When 21-year-old Juan Moreno of Zion competes for the championship of Tae Kwon Do in the Summer Olympics in Barcelona, he'll be combatting not only his opponent, but the memories of a string of disappointments that has kept the Gold Medal from his grasp.

Making Moreno's match Aug. 5 more important is that this could be Tae Kwon Do's last year at the Olympics. The Olympic Committee is ending demonstration sports beginning with the 1996 Olympiad, and unless Tae Kwon Do is accepted as a full-fledged competition sport, this could Moreno's last chance to go for the gold. (The Tae Kwon Do competition will not be televised this year.)

He won the silver medal in the 1988 Olympics at the age of 17. But as Moreno prepared for Wednesday's match, his family members said they always believed he could go this far.

"If Juan sets forth on a goal, he'll definitely achieve it," said Moreno's sister Melissa, like Juan a graduate of Zion-Benton Township High School. "He's an overachiever. We always thought he would become a big star, whether because of his intelligence or something else."

Tae Kwon Do became part of Moreno's life early in his upbringing in Zion. The Morenos are truly an athletic family. Juan's grandfather taught his father the martial art, and Juan's father Ricardo passed along the passion to Juan and his siblings—Carlos, now 19; Melissa, 18; and Jeana, 24. Jeana and mother Karen took fitness classes, and Grandfather Moreno, now in his 60s, is a 2nd-degree black belt still teaching the sport. (Ricardo Moreno reached the rank of green belt, Carlos a second-degree black belt. Juan has attained third-degree black belt status.)

Siblings usually fight as they're growing up. But in the Moreno household, the fighting has a martial-arts edge, Melissa recalled with a laugh.

Juan and Carlos were "inseparable" as kids and remain best friends, Melissa said. In training, Juan played the taskmaster and Carlos would tend to goof off.

"Juan was always going to class or else teaching classes," Melissa said. "Carlos got lazy sometimes and Juan would push him to do it again."

Carlos himself tried out for the Olympic team and was kept from a trip to Barcelona by one defeat in a match.

During high school, Juan was a Tae Kwon Do instructor at Jerry Cook's Professional Tae-kwon-do Studio in Zion. At school, he played soccer.

When it was clear Juan could be a serious force in Tae Kwon Do, he was recruited by the U.S. Taekwondo Union and the Olympic team. He finished high school by correspondence. At 17, he returned to his native Korea for the Seoul Olympics, heavily favored to win the gold. It was not to be, as judges gave the gold to a Korean competitor. Moreno had to "settle" for the silver.

Moreno's difficulties piled on top of the disappointment. Demoralized and exhausted, he took a year off. His trainers approved of the move, but it meant he forfeited his spot on the Olympic team. Last year he struggled with his weight and almost didn't make the Olympic training camp.

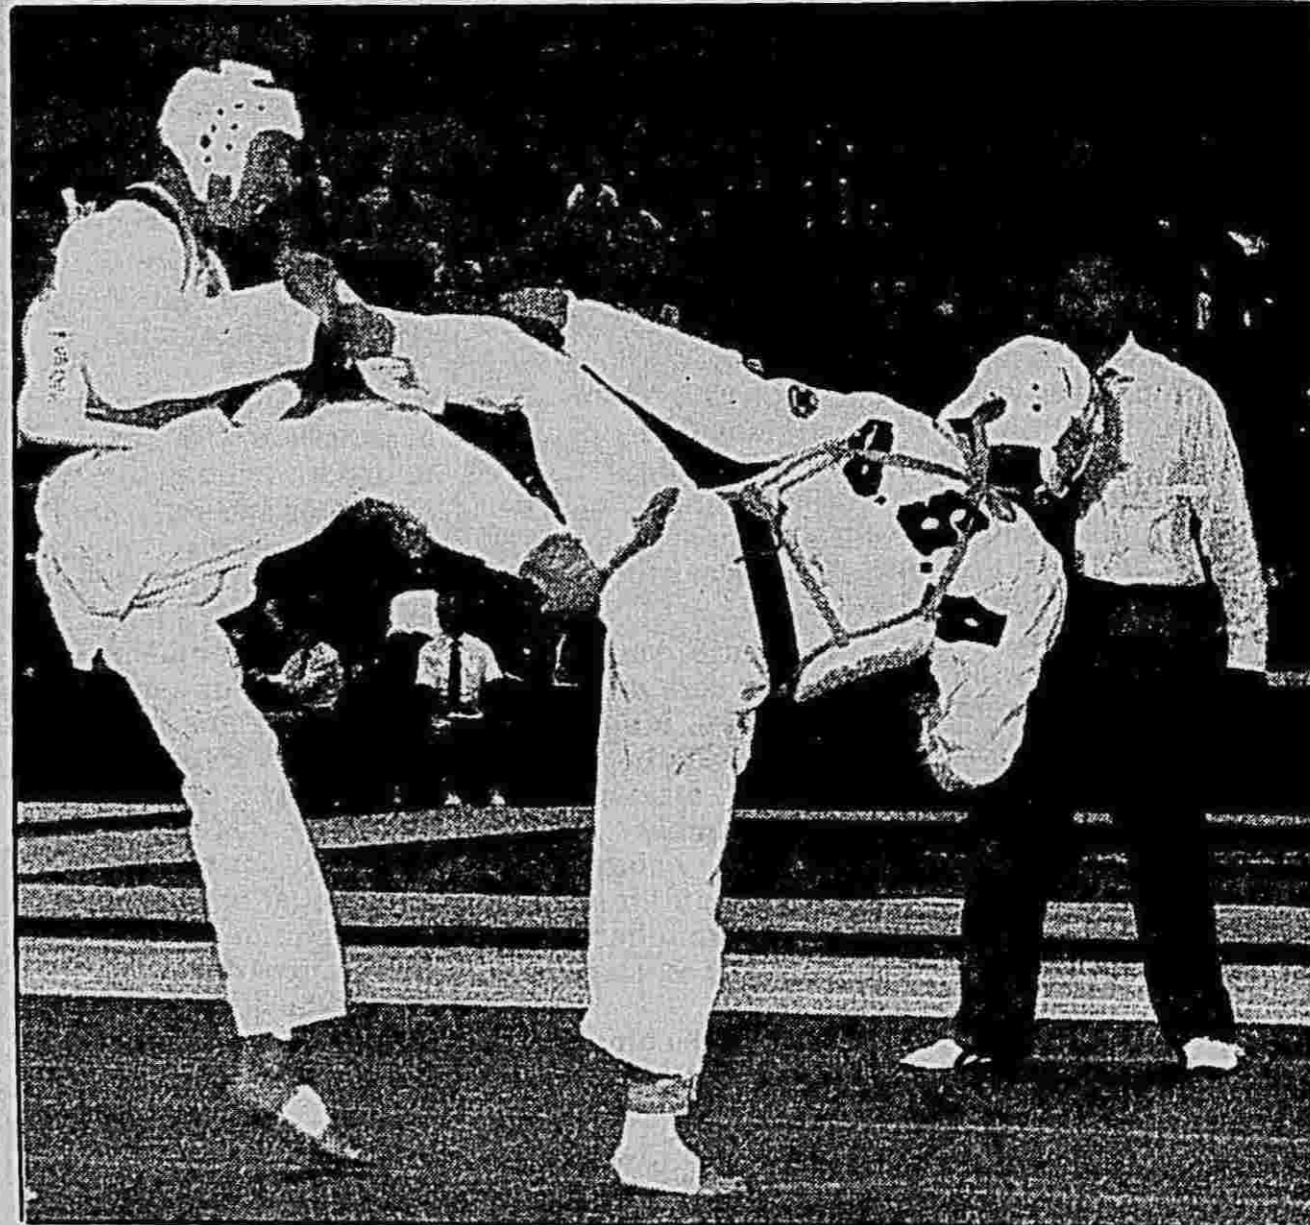

But Moreno came back, winning an international competition in Cuba last year and ranking first at the Olympic team trials in June. For the 25th Olympiad in Spain, Juan is one of 18 Illinoisans on Team U.S.A.

What motivates Juan now is the "expectations of so many people, and his own hopes," Melissa said. "He wants to make people proud, and so many people expected him to win the gold in 88, and so this year is the year to do it for himself."

"When he fights it's almost as if he's in the room alone," said Robert Fujimora, an official at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo., where Juan is one of only 12 permanent residents.

"Being an elite athlete requires a lot from someone," said Fujimora. "You pretty much have to put your life on hold."

"Juan's the kind of guy who's able to set aside problems and go forward, even when he was relatively young," Fujimora said.

Thirsting for Answers about Water and Nutrition

Thirsting To Succeed

by Medical Correspondent
Noel D. Nequin, M.D.

Athletes and sports-active Americans recognize the importance of maintaining their bodies at peak efficiencies to ensure maximum performance levels. That means that they're selective about the foods and liquids they consume.

Of all the liquids critical to good health, the most important is water. Seventy percent of our bodies are water and water aids in the bottled water to quench their thirst. The motivation appears to be that bottled water is better for the body than tap water because it is free of harmful chemicals and other impurities which ultimately may be absorbed by the body. In addition, many people simply prefer the taste of bottled water over tap water.

One of the advantages of bottled water is that its chemical contents can

Whatever your favorite taste or activity, it's important to give your body the liquid nourishment it needs. Drink at least eight glasses of water each day, and more when you engage in strenuous exercise. It not only will enhance your athletic achievements, but your stamina as well.

I REALLY WISH I KNEW WHY PEOPLE HAVE FUNERALS

Students of human behavior tell us that ceremonies for saying goodbye have existed as long as man. Ceremonies mark events in the lives of people and communities. Weddings mark new families; baptisms and bar mitzvahs welcome children and adolescents into society. Death marks the end of life. The funeral acknowledges that a life has been lived. People express their feelings about life through ceremony. Funerals also provide a socially accepted way for people to come together to support the grieving family. If there were no funerals, how would you find a way to tell a family that you cared about their loss.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I am thinking about going back to work after many years of being home raising my family. I am looking for something that will give me about 20-30 hours per week. I basically have no office skills, what would you suggest? S.M.

A: Your question is one which is constantly asked of me. Other than the obvious, "road to retail", for which you may find numerous possibilities, allow me to suggest an alternative that has become popular for back to workers, retirees, college students and high school graduates. Telephone sales or telemarketing as it is often referred to, comes in many different forms. This business usually offers complete training as well as personalized on the job coaching to help you excel. For you and anyone out there interested in this often rewarding career write to me at the address below.

Q: I have just been offered a new position to start in August. My new employer asked me for a copy of my drivers license and social security card. When I asked why, he said that it was for the I-9 form. So as not to appear stupid, I didn't ask then, but I will now...What is an I-9 form? R.J.

A: Form I-9 as it is referred to, is actually known as an Employment Eligibility Verification form. It was developed by the U.S. Department of Justice Immigration and Naturalization Service in 1987. Basically what this does is verifies a persons authority to be employed within the United States by providing certain documents as required as proof identity and employment eligibility. This form is not optional, but rather required by all employers to have on file at all times.

Q: I recently started a mid management position. Would it be out of line for me to ask my new employer and co-workers not to call me by my formal name on my resume' but rather by the name my friends call me? K.C.

A: You didn't mention what name that would be. Barring any offensive, bizarre or out of line names, would it make you more comfortable? Ask away.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

"I placed this ad on a Tuesday in Lakeland Newspapers because, being a Wauconda Leader subscriber, I wanted my home offered locally. The Classified Ad-Visor helped write the copy and designed the ad in a very appealing manner, and it appeared in all 14 Lakeland Newspapers that Friday. By the next day I had received over 25 calls on the house. It was rented that day, but I still continued to receive calls, even two weeks after the ad ran. Thanks, Lakeland. Great result!"

Gurnee squad brings momentum to Missouri

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

For the second straight year, a Lake County youth baseball team will be competing in a regional tournament with a chance to advance to the national finals.

Last year, Round Lake's Colt league team won 43 games including two at the regional tournament in Kansas City. This week, the Gurnee Bronco team will be in Kansas City in the regional tournament.

Coach George Zorich said the key to the 39-12 season has been commitment from players and parents alike.

"While their friends went to Great America or Gurnee Mills, these players may have had to attend a practice," Zorich said.

The Broncos traveling team won the Illinois Amateur Baseball Assn. (IABA) tourney in Rockford by bettering the Rockford Boys Club in two games, 20-4 and 4-3 in the Saturday title game.

Chris Groth led the way in the state title won at Rockford with a .687 average with 11 hits. "He was fantastic, he was extremely hot," Zorich said.

Tim Zorich hit .529 and Jake Hanson .400. Anthony Fernandez hit .375, Jeff Karolewicz .333 and John Savage .315.

Savage, whom Zorich describes as one of the fastest 12-year-olds he has seen, led the way in pitching with two wins while Fernandez gained a win in the 20-4 victory over Rockford.

The team pretty much is the same which played as 11-year-olds last year.

"Our goals were to go undefeated in Lake County and we lost one game (6-4 to Lake Villa). Fundamental defense is the key. We have a drill whose goal is to keep the offense under two runs. We did phenomenally well. We had just one error in the first game and none in the second against Rockford," Zorich said.

Gurnee won the Lake County title with a 18-1 record, averaging nine runs a game while holding opponents to two in a 39-12 season.

Gurnee was to play the Missouri state champs in first round action Wednesday in the double elimination tournament.

The Rockford tourney started with a 10-4 win over Cherry Valley after a first-round bye. Savage gained the win.

After a 10-9 loss to Rockford Boys Club, the Gurnee team won 20-0 over Loves Park behind Harlem with Hanson gaining the win.

No matter what happens in Missouri, Zorich believes there are bright futures ahead for his team. "Savage, Tim, Jake and Chris Baker all will play high school ball," he said.

Zorich, whose family moved to Gurnee two years ago, is a former outfielder. His last competitive team was a 30-and-over team in Columbus, Ohio. "It was good competition. Most of the players were former Ohio State University players," Zorich said.

Outfield may be not as stressed by some coaches, but Zorich is not one of them. "Playing outfield is a blast. You wait for the one or two times in a game where you can take a base away from an offense. If you make a mistake, it could cost your team two bases," he said.

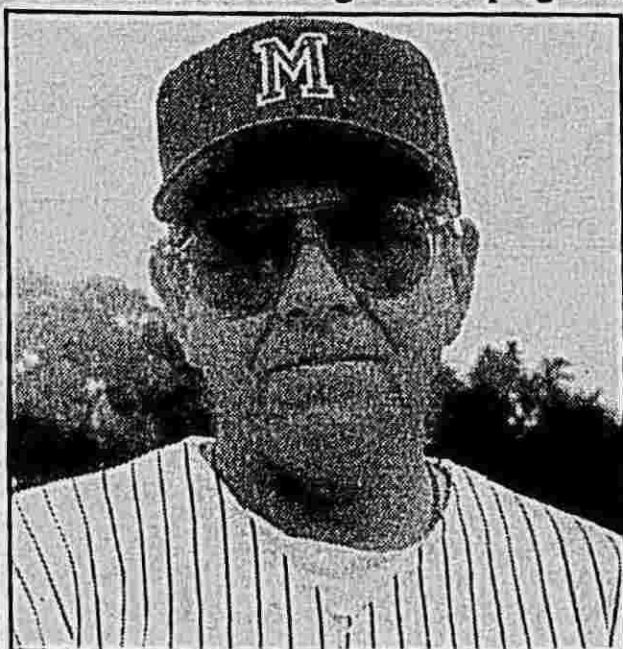

That is something the Broncos have not had to worry too much about so far.

Many ingredients give Mundelein strong finish

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Mundelein Legion Coach Ted Muno had good reason to take a breather.

It was a little more than 12 hours after his team had a chance for a storybook finish come to a close with a humbling 13-0 loss to Highland Park. The accomplishments of a team put together with players from four different high school programs was still fresh, though.

Fresh enough to recall just what the 10 players who finished the season (others quit earlier, went on vacation for the tournament or decided they would not see any playing time) accomplished in 11 wins.

Some players, such as Toby Routledge and Rob Brua of Mundelein Muno has known since their little league days.

A rundown of how the 10 contributed:

John Bartels (Carmel): "He keeps his head in the game and really knows baseball."

Travis Walkington (Grayslake): "He is the best defensive centerfielder I have seen in quite a while. He needs to concentrate on being 100 percent."

Nate Roberts (Grayslake): "A good player, he missed the final cut at Eastern Illinois University. Not having played for a season hurt him. He just started to get into his groove when the season ended."

Shawn Harlan (Mundelein): "Everybody says he is a great basketball player, but he is really a good all-around athlete."

Dan Devito (Carmel): "He is a good shortstop, but he should concentrate on pitching."

Routledge (Mundelein): "I've known him since he was 10 years old and our junior football team played Round Lake in the SuperBowl. He gives you 100 percent all of the time. It may not look like 100 percent because he is not blessed with great speed."

Steve Taylor (Grayslake): "He is a good catcher, but needs to develop more at hitting. He has a good chance to play baseball in college if he concentrates on hitting."

Matt Head (Carmel): "He is a comer. He is a sophomore, going to be a junior and is a great catcher. He moves back there like a cat."

Brua (Mundelein): "I've known Rob since he was 10. He always gives you 100 percent and wants to be in the lineup."

Brian Davis (Libertyville): "He concentrated on basketball instead of baseball, but he tries as hard as anybody."

While Mundelein has had a drought of winning in Legion play — the team was 3-13 last year, the squad may have picked up some of Muno's believes, when his Pennsylvania team reached the state finals twice in three years.

"Things have changed in the last 10 to 15 years. Now players are off working and don't have time to go in the batting cage and hit, hit hit," he said.

Mundelein Legion will recall winning close ones

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

As often as Nate Roberts hits home runs, it does not take much to remember each one.

"I hit one last year in Legion ball," Roberts said.

For it was easy to remember the highlights of the three-win 1991 Mundelein Legion season. But this summer, the Mundelein squad may have to produce a videotape.

Roberts walked on for the baseball team at Eastern Illinois University but did not make the cut, duplicated his feat this year and at a most opportune time. One of several Mundelein Legion baseball players from Grayslake, Roberts took an 0-2 fastball over the left-field fence for a 1-0 lead against Highland Park.

The lead doubled and Mundelein, the Cinderella story in this Dist. 10 final four, was able to gain .500 and even a shot at the district title. It did not work out that way. Even though Roberts hit another blast in a 7-3 loss to Waukegan, the Mundelein team ran out of gas in a 13-0 loss to Waukegan, settling for a third-place finish.

Although the glass slipper did not quite fit, there were plenty of highlights for the Mundelein fans. There was the dramatic 1-0 win over Round Lake to get to the final four and an ousting of Vernon (2-1 in 10 innings) a team Mundelein was swept by a week earlier. The tourney started with a 3-2 win over Lake Zurich.

And who could forget the emphatic "pow, pow, pow," from Roberts after the win over Highland Park.

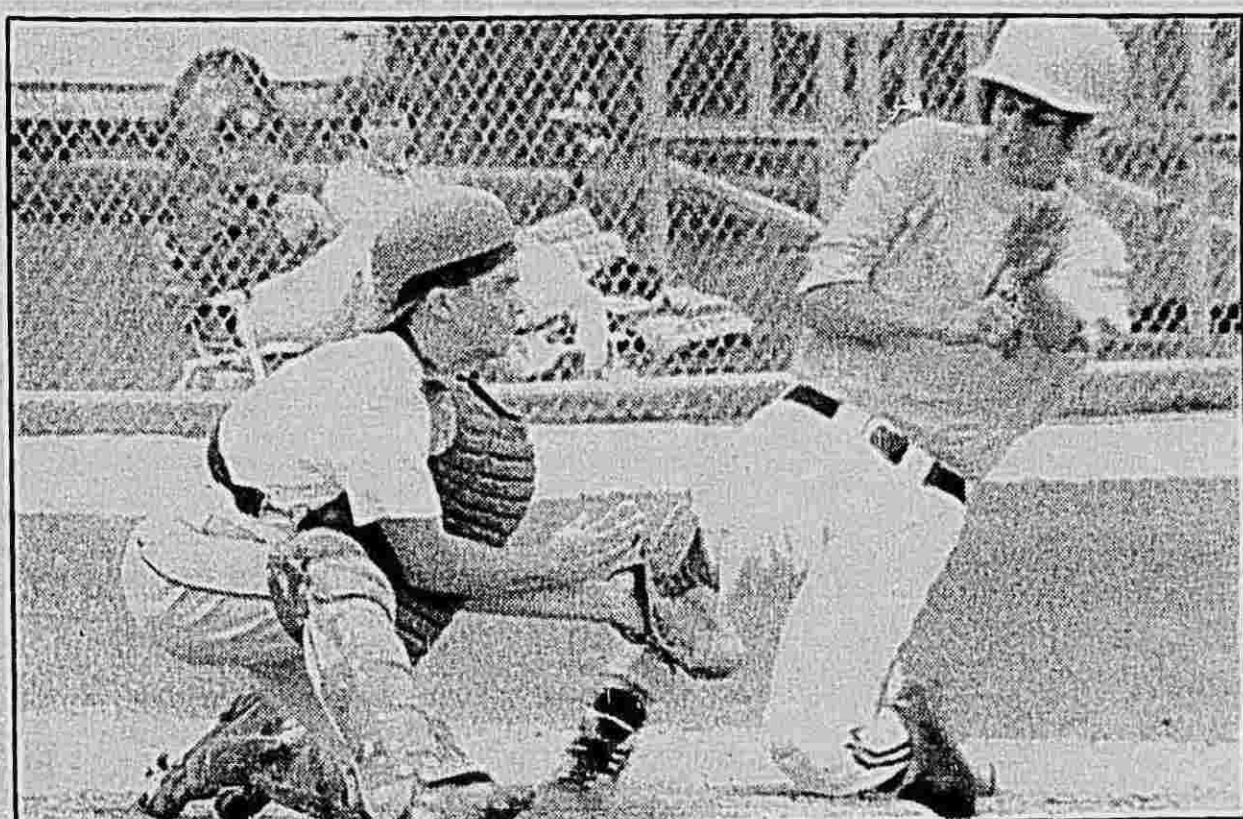

Mundelein's Dan Devito had one of those things going through six and two-thirds innings in the nine inning game. "It was just my mechanics. I had a lot of them guessing," Devito said. Devito plans to walk-on at University of Iowa next year.

Devito struckout 10 and walked only two. Tony Mascarella broke up the no-hit bid with a single in the seventh.

Mundelein added a second run in the seventh off some aggressive baserunning despite a muddy field.

Shawn Harlan, who picked up the win to oust Round Lake, singled, stole second and went to third on a catcher's error. He then scored as Steve Taylor flied out.

Harlan was the hitting hero against Round Lake. The Northeastern University student and MHS graduate had a ground-rule double in the fifth. Travis Walkington, of Grayslake, came through with the game-winning hit.

Carmel's Curt Salata beats the tag after scoring from second base on an in-field error against Schaumburg. Carmel lost in Stevenson baseball regional final, 5-3. Warren also lost in a regional final. — Photo by Eugene Gabry.

Immovable object

Big Ten offenses will have to try and get past Purdue nose guard Jeff Zgonina (40) again this fall. The Carmel High product and Long Grove resident is being mentioned as an Outland Trophy candidate, the honor given to top lineman. Zgonina is joined on Purdue roster by linebacker Jim Maciag, another Carmel grad.

Zgonina taking center stage for Boilermakers

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

If Big Ten football offenses want to move the ball against Purdue this fall, they will have to find a get around Jeff Zgonina.

Zgonina is completing his career at Purdue University as one of the two players photographed on the cover of the pre-season Purdue publication. Not bad for a noseguard who got his start in the tough East Suburban Catholic Conference. And it will be Zgonina and quarterback Eric Hunter who will be Purdue's representatives at this weekend's league kickoff luncheon in Chicago.

"He is big and strong. He is a prototypical nose guard. He is aggressive, quick and can handle all the stunts," Purdue head coach Jim Colletto said of Zgonina.

Zgonina, touted as a candidate for the Outland

Trophy, the award given to the top lineman in the nation, has had a good spring practice session. He has been working out mostly on his own, as the Boilermakers looked at younger linemen.

The Long Grove resident will be joined in the Purdue roster by linebacker Jim Maciag. Maciag, a 6-0, 228 pounder was red-shirted last year.

"He is a smart, hard-nosed, tough, linebacker," Colletto said.

Colletto is in his second year as head man at Purdue after taking the post from Fred Akers. Purdue went 4-7 last year. That may not seem like much, but that was double the wins from the year before.

While the Boilermakers have found it a tough go in the Big Ten, the 6-2, 270 pound Zgonina has built up an impressive resume.

He started in 1989 with 82 tackles (63 solo, 19 assist) and 60 yards in total yards lost. His best year in tackles came in 1990 on a 2-9 team with 123 tackles and 64 yards lost. His career high was 17 tackles against Indiana in 1990.

Last year, he was constantly doubled and triple teamed after injuries to two starting linemen yet still managed 76 tackles, a fumble recovery and his first interception and blocked a point-after-touchdown.

He has continued his track and field exploits at Purdue, placing first in the conference track meet in shot put.

Maciag is part of a group Colletto hopes will be watching a respectable league season. He became a starter at Carmel in the fifth game of his sophomore year and finished with 111 stops as a senior.

Knights set for debut

Lake County Knights semi-pro football team will make its one and only appearance at a home game Aug. 2.

The Knights will battle the Chicago Falcons in a controlled scrimmage at 1 p.m. at their field in Ivanhoe. The field is a former softball diamond at Rtes. 60 and 83. Admission is free.

"We feel real good about it. We have had 45 players come out," Knights Coach Tom Nelson said.

The controlled scrimmage situation will feature 10 plays on offense followed by 10 on defense. "It is good to get a good look at people without the pressure of a game," Nelson said.

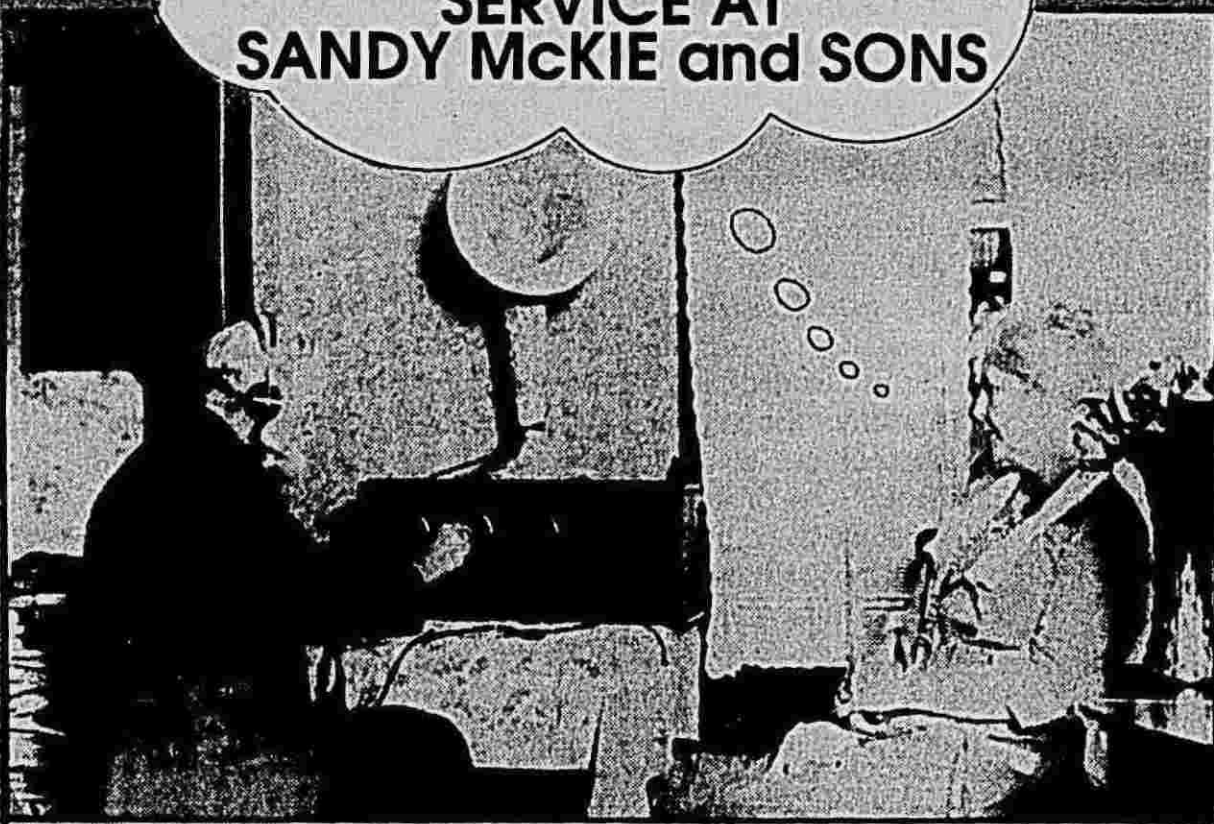

Gordon Bittner of Racine, Wis., is the leading quarterback candidate. Fullbacks include Kevin Amidei, a Stevenson graduate; Paul Antons of McHenry and Eric Disch of Hawthorne Woods along with Dennis Lane of Evanston and Eric Becker of Wauconda are likely to see time on the offensive line.

Former Lake County Viking Larry Bobo of North Chicago is back at cornerback. Other area players on defense will be Brian Bork of Wildwood at defensive end, John Burns of Mundelein at defensive tackle, Kris Colbenson of Round Lake Beach at inside linebacker and Jerrod Collier of Gurnee at outside linebacker. Dale Jackson of Waukegan, a former Viking, is at safety. Randy Jones of Park City is at defensive end.

Veteran ex-Viking Chris Fredrich will handle kicking along with Amidei.

The Knights have added a second pre-season game. They will battle at Racine Aug. 8.

CLC's volleyball staff grows for new season

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

College of Lake County volleyball Coach Sue Garcia will have an assistant when the season begins next month.

Patty Spietz, head volleyball coach at Lake Forest Academy, will help guide the Lancers.

"It will be a big help. Patti coached at Lake Forest Academy for five years and she has played for 15 or 16 years," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

These are some anxious times for the Lancers, waiting patiently for the season to commence. It is only 11 days before CLC opens tryouts, 18 before the first practice. The Lancers are trying to improve on last year's 29-10-5 mark starting Sept. 8 against Rock Valley.

Although CLC loses its star for two years in Caryn Alexander, who will be playing basketball this winter at Northern Illinois University, Garcia feels strongly about the newcomers. Outside hitter Karensa Johnson and middle hitter Jenny Denecke and setter Kim Stepp give CLC a Round Lake connection. Kathy Filkey, an Antioch High grad, is a middle hitter.

Also coming on board are: setter Jamie

Langer of Carmel; Diane Babski from Elite Eight qualifier Stevenson.

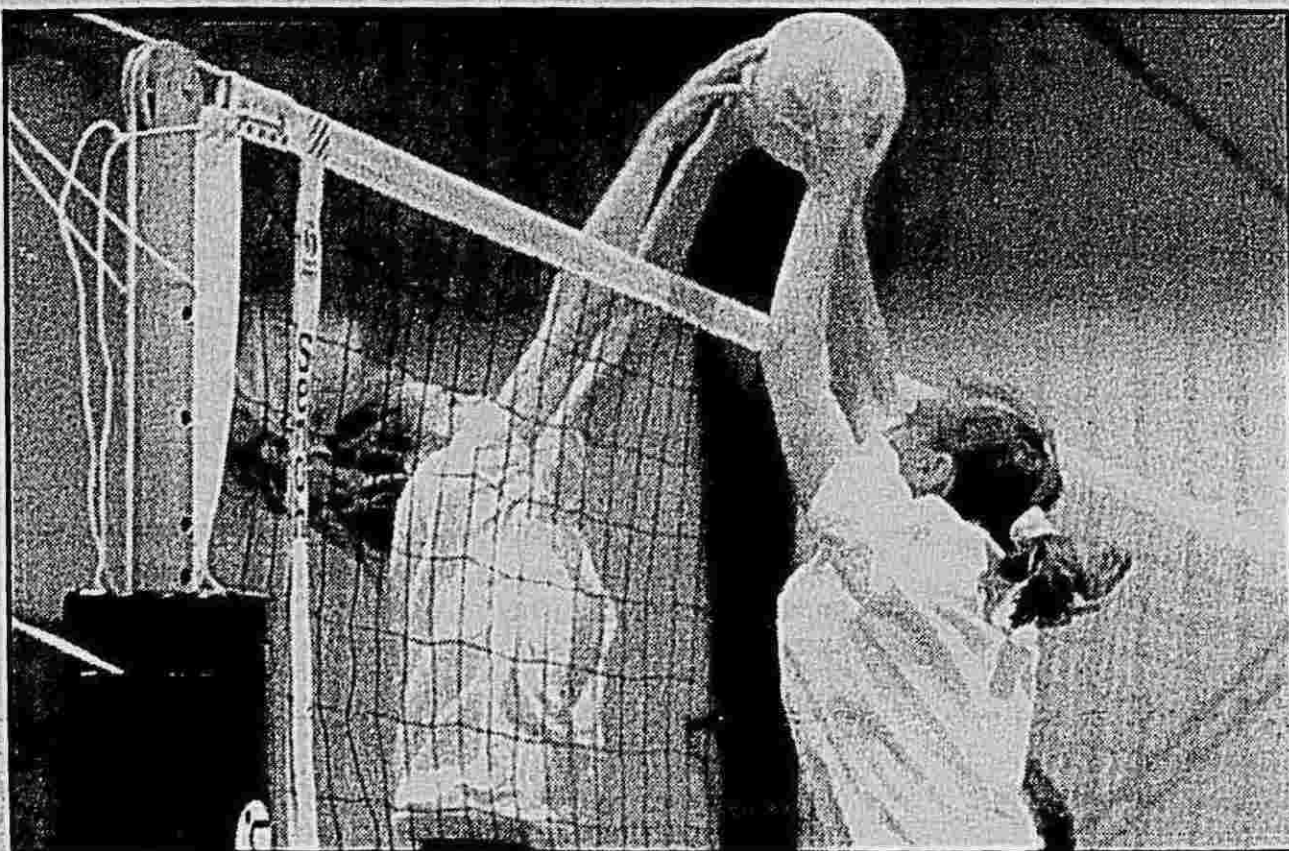

A cadre of junior high and underclass level coaches gathered at CLC this rainy Saturday morning — the weather felt like a pressure-packed day in October, as Garcia stressed the importance of on-court communication in matches.

Volleyball is not normally associated with a sport one can work on alone, but Garcia disproved that. "There are so many things you can do: bang the ball against the wall or lie down and flip the ball," she said.

Other CLC notes: two softball players are expected to play at four-year schools next year. Denise Barr, a Grant High graduate, is likely to attend Northeastern University in Chicago while Lynette Kowalke, a Mundelein grad, is looking at National Louis University.

Women's tennis coach Lance Laverty will hold an organizational meeting Aug. 26.

Friendly net battle

College of Lake County volleyball players Nicki Stolarik (left) and Karen Becker struggle for control of a ball. Action came as Lancers demonstrate skill during clinic at CLC.

Vikings learn in first loss

Football returned to Lake County for a new season the same place where it begins for many a Round Lake gridiron aspirant.

Round Lake Area Park Dist.'s Spartan Field was the scene as the Lake County Vikings took on the Chicago Chargers. The place is where the future Panthers are introduced to stretching exercises, push-ups, sit-ups and football phrases like "it's a game of inches".

The Vikings took a lesson in the old adage in a 17-14 loss Sunday to the Chicago Chargers.

Lake County was driving the football and it appeared Wes Quist was getting ready to score the winning touchdown. But the quarterback was stopped six inches shy of the goal. The next play the runner, Willie Garrett, was thrown for a five-yard loss as time expired.

"We thought about going for the field goal to tie it, but then we decided to go for the win," Vikings Coach Russ Kraly said.

Lake County hosts the Chicago Falcons at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 1 at Round Lake High.

Kraly, said he was pleased with the team's showing, which does not count in the records.

"Our offensive line played real good. Our kicking game was good and we have seven or eight good running backs. We learned we have to keep our cool in the final two minutes," he said.

Newcomer Willie Garrett scored the Vikings first touchdown, a five-yard first half run.

That made it 7-3 at half-time, which held up until the first possession in the second half. A Lake County penalty set up a 16-yard TD toss from John Anderson to Tony Durka.

Lake County came right back, an 11-play march capped off by a Damon Horn TD.

Dick Winselle's scamper up the middle gave the visitors their final score.

The Vikings and their fans clad in shirt sleeves and shorts know the true test does not come when the summer wear is in vogue, but when it is hot chocolate, coffee and parka weather.

in all of the things concerning schools and referendums and teacher cut backs. People wonder how they can get information. I encourage all people to go the school boards and get all contracts under the Freedom of Information Act and look at these items. You might be surprised. Wondering about the lottery? You would be interested that the lottery money does go to the schools, but the money that used to go to the school now goes elsewhere. You might want to look at your state again.

Friendship defined

Hi, this is from Libertyville. My definition of a friend is someone who accepts me and loves me as is, my good points and bad points, my strengths and my weaknesses, understands me when I am understandable, gives me space if needed, companionship when mutually agreed, is willing to be honest, tactful, and considerate, exhibits reasonable expectations, and desires all of the same things in return. Thank you.

I'll help out

Hi, I just read last week's Lipservice. I have two comments. One is on the article that suggested that you start a new column that responds to the calls. I think that is the great idea. So, every week, I will try to address the questions concerning the upcoming referendum in Round Lake for the schools. Last week, someone asked about the lottery money and where it is going. I am going to do some research and I will give an answer in next week's Lipservice column. Thank you.

Taxed too much

Waterfront property owners... did you know that since you have property on the waterfront you are paying three times the assessment than the people that have lots right behind you? This is true, check with your tax assessor. They say that you are worth more because you are right there. I think that this is wrong. The assessment is supposed to be based on uniformity. If all the waterfront owners ban together, we can get the law changed. Let's do it! Talk to your tax assessor. Thank you.

Good idea, Round Lake

What a clever idea for the Round Lake Park District and Round Lake Library to put a connecting path between the two buildings. I think that it is a good use of the taxpayer's money and a true community center.

Our Little Miss

Our daughter, Tiffany, was in the Little Miss Antioch contest a while ago. Although the judges didn't pick her, she will always be our Little Miss Antioch. We are so proud of her!

Why I don't go to the Fair

I used to like going to the County Fair, but I have stopped going because I can't walk that far anymore. They don't have benches in enough places around the grounds. I sure miss going. The best time to go is when you are young. I hope that a lot of the youth will go. I wish I could.

Can't see light

Traveling on Rte. 12, south of Fox Lake, there is a flashing yellow light. And they put a State Park Road sign right in front of the sign, so you can't see it any more. Hopefully, they will move the sign. Thank you.

Phone service

I'm calling from Round Lake and I just read the article to be cautious when picking up the phone. It was very informative. You failed to mention that a variety of features of Illinois Bell are not available in this area. I just wanted to mention that.

Money not in area

Yeah, I'm calling about the Antioch person that is requesting a new K-Mart or Venture store to keep the money in the area instead of going to Round Lake Beach. Well, I just want them to know that with all of these big stores, all of this tax money goes to the Grayslake schools. It is one reason why the Round Lake Beach area is always in trouble. It just aggravates me that all of these big shopping area taxes are going to Grayslake.

Neighborhood watch-neighbors look after each other

The signs of summer are apparent, kids out of school, bicycles everywhere, and vandalism on the rise. Whole neighborhoods throw their hands up in frustration and ask "What can we do?" Things missing from the barn, mailboxes smashed or blown up, dirtbikes tearing across lawns, boats broken into and trashed, spray painted garages, fences, cars—you get the idea.

Neighborhood watch is like moving back to the future. Before there were police departments with elected officials that the citizens could blame for their misfortunes, people had to be responsible for their safety and security. Just as some animals live in social groups for protection and security, humans once depended on each other for their safety and the security of their property.

Good locks and solid doors provide some physical security for our property but nothing provides a greater deterrent than increasing the likelihood that the offender will be detected, apprehended, prosecuted, and punished to such a great degree that the rewards of the crime are not worth the risk.

Police nationwide express similar concerns when dealing with the public. Many times the police are called upon to solve community problems, yet, when a private citizen is asked to sign a complaint and appear in court to testify against the offender in a crime committed against them, either as an individual or as part of the community, a certain number of people will refuse to become involved, either because they don't want to be bothered, or, because they fear retaliation when the offender is released.

Whatever the reason the result is that more and more crimes that could be stopped, or at least reported go on unchallenged. When this happens, when a crime is committed and apathy or fear prevents the justice system from taking its course, we may as well give our permission for similar actions to be taken against us.

Neighborhood watch is neighbors looking after each other and taking care of each other. Ask yourself if you have a neighbor you, know well enough to ask if they will take in your mail while you're away on vacation. Would you leave your house keys with them? Can you trust that they will remember to feed your cat every day? Now ask yourself what your neighbors would say about you when asked the same thing. Are you a good neighbor? Do you have the time to get involved with activities in and around your community? We know that when people come together with a common goal and a real desire to reach that goal, there is little that can stand in their way.

As far as the police department is concerned, the "nuts and bolts" of a neighborhood watch is very simple. An officer goes out and makes a presentation to a group explaining how neighborhood watch works and what specific strategies will be effective for that particular area. Then, individual members of the watch begin to record information that they otherwise would have ignored. That information is then forwarded to a "Block Captain" who compiles information from several homes and forwards that to a coordinator who makes up a "master sheet" and forwards it to the police department where a file is maintained.

Here is an example of how this can work: On July 22, Mrs. Smith notice a red Corvette at the kiddy park across the street from her home. Two white males in their twenties got out of the car and began putting something together. The license number was IL1234. The two then got back in the car and drove east on North Ave. The time was exactly 9:48 p.m. when they left. Mr. Rogers reported that sometime just before the news came on, he heard an explosion and when he looked out the window, he saw a red sports car speeding north on Main St. There were two people in the car but it was too dark to see much more. Mrs. Chappel reported that when she returned home at 10:15 p.m. she found that someone had blown up her mailbox. She called the police and made a report. Each piece of this puzzle by itself would not be of too much help to the police, but together the above information would provide police with a lead that they could follow up.

Neighborhood watch works best when neighbors get along well to begin with. If there is "Bad Blood" between neighbors, their investment in your security may be less than adequate. Holding meetings as a social event has done more for the success of watch groups than all the policeman and paperwork that police departments can throw at them.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." Still sound advice.

If you have any questions or comments, or if there is a subject you would like to see addressed, write to Deputy Martin E. Smith, Lake County Sheriff's Department, Community Services Division, 25 S. Utica St., Waukegan, IL 60085, or call (708) 360-5830 and ask for either Martin or Lt. Steve Towns-end.

Youngsters will win bonds at race against drugs event

The final race of the night on Wisconsin Fans or Auto Racing (WFAR) Night at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmet Speedway in Wilmet, Wis. proved the most exciting as Genesee's Gary Dye held off Tim Cox for his second feature win of the year taking the 20-lap modified main by inches at the finish line as the two crossed wheel to wheel.

Frank Filsco of Des Plaines, captured his third 25-lap sprint main at Wilmet with other feature wins on Saturday, July 25 at Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed going to point leader Dennis Kratz of Antioch who won his seventh 20-lap sportsman main and 20 race overall, and Dennis Frea of Sturgeon Bay took top honors in the 10-lap mini-sprint main.

Dye took the early lead in the modified main with Cox closing into contention as the midway point approached. On lap 10, a lapped car got out of shape in front of a four-way battle for third with half of the battlers, Dennis Spitz and point leader Lenny Ostrowski Jr. tangling trying to take evasive action. Both were able to restart but finished back in the field. When the green reappeared,

Cox shot to the outside on the front stretch and powered into the lead on lap 11. Four laps later Allen Winker had a flat right-front tire and came to a stop in turn four bringing out a final yellow flag. On the restart, Dye worked his Crane Engineering/Budweiser/LAM Racing Engines/KB Fabricating Enticer Chassis "Land Shark" to the outside in turn four. Two laps later Cox came even with Dye as the pair diced back and forth throughout the closing circuits changing leads several times during each lap. Coming for the checkered,

Dye hooked the cushion in four momentarily but was able to recover with Cox sticking to the low line. The two crossed the finish line wheel to wheel with Dye scoring the win by inches. Cox, who gave Dye a sportsmanlike thumbs up as Dye received the checkered flag was second with Leroy Ostrowski third, Jone Behncke fourth and Russ Egan fifth. "It sure was a close one, but I like running with Tim because he's a good, clean competitor," said Dye. "This is a great win for the crew because we've had our share of bad luck the past couple of weeks and they've really had to work hard."

Kratz, by virtue of luck of the draw being a three pill thrown, won the third heat for his 13 consecutive heat race win of the season. The 13 proved lucky for him as the 27-year-old plumber in his fifth season of racing started his TRACO Industries/Sinclair Racing Engines/JR Auto Body Ford Thunderbird on the pole of the 20-car field and never looked back. Three cautions during the first eight circuits kept the competition close for a while, but in the end Kratz won his seventh feature of the season. Rob Olson came from the back of the field to finish runner-up with John Poehler third, Raymond Hensley fourth and Jimmy Joe Urbanick fifth. "The track was beautiful," said Kratz, who had a for sale sign on his car. "The car is for sale and whether we get a new sportsman or move into a different division, we'll have to wait and see."

The track produced an all-time record in sprint qualifying with Dave Moulis of Johnsburg, turning a circuit of the one-third mile oval in :13.873 seconds.

Strictly for Seniors

100-year-old has seen many changes, hardships

by AMY E. PRZYTULA

Lakeland Newspapers
100-years-old. Many of us would like to see that birthday, but few actually do. Signe Syverud reached that centennial age this past May.
She has seen many changes in the world since her birth. It all began in another country. Signe was born in Holmestrand, Norway in 1892. There she met her husband at the wedding of her uncle and his aunt.

"Dad was smitten," said Signe's eldest daughter, Solveig Pedersen.

Signe's pioneering spirit brought her to the United States when she was 24 years old. "She had her mind set on coming to the states," said Pedersen, "She is very independent."

Although Signe's sweetheart did not want to move to the States, she talked him into the trip.

The happy couple came to America on the same ship, and eventually settled in the Chicago area.

The years immediately following the move were tight. Signe made ends meet by working along Michigan Avenue. "She was a cook and a maid," said Pedersen.

Mr. and Mrs. Syverud had three girls, Solveig, Evelyn Capp and Shirley McKee. The children were raised in Winthrop Harbor.

"Dad fought in World War I," remembered Pedersen, "Mom always worked hard."

Signe and her girls lost the man of the family after the war to a car crash along Sheridan Road.

World War II brought changes to Signe and her young family. "Mom worked in the Zion Lace Factory, the Marshall Field's Store and at a factory in Waukegan." The mother kept her family well and the rough times passed.

"When she was a bit younger," Pedersen recalls, "she loved to garden and mom always cooked up a storm."

Signe is the grandmother of 7 and has 16 great-grandchildren.

Now days, the years and numerous strokes have taken a bit of the energy out of Signe. She lived with Evelyn for two years, and with Solveig for eight before moving to Victory Lanes.

Signe Syverud accepts a plaque making her a member of the Victory Lanes Centurian Club surrounded by her family and friends. She turned 100 on May 23, 1992.

She was honored with the title of being the first member in the Victory Lanes Centurian on May 23, 1992.

Signe's life has proven to be a life-long struggle. And she has won by beating out the years.

Senior Expo held at CLC

Senior Expo '92, an all-day program of entertainment and education for senior citizens, is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 8 at College of Lake County, Grayslake. The event is sponsored by the Lake County Council for Seniors and CLC.

"Senior Expo has traditionally been held in October. This year, the event is being moved to September, to a day on which CLC schedules no classes.

One of the event's highlighters is the return of Lance Brown, popular entertainer who presented a Will Rogers show at Expo '91. His 1992 program "Life Down East," emphasizes stories and songs about the State of Maine.

Also featured will be humorous speaker Lucy Miele, whose topic will be "Cleanliness is Next to Impossible." The day's activities will include a dozen or so "breakout sessions" in the afternoon, with topics ranging from "Snakes Alive" to "Grandparents in a Changing Society."

Some highlights of the afternoon program are as follows.

- College Stage Fright: Do you want to take a college class, but need someone to provide step-by-step instructions about getting started? Would you like to meet new and interesting people? Would you like to hear from others who have experienced "stage fright," too, but found the courage to take the first step? If you answer "yes," this program, led by CLC student recruiter Terry Spets, is for you.

- Handwriting Analysis: An introduction: Participants will learn about their secret selves, as shown by handwriting. Edna Schell Wade, master graphologist, teacher and court-qualified handwriting examiner, will share with the participants the meaning of ways of crossing "t's and dotting 'i's, it involves memory of the meaning of each moment of the pen.

- Secrets of a lasting Marriage: A lively discussion about generating new sparks and creating a relationship to last. Phil Kirschbaum, L.C.S.W. shares what he has learned in 20 years of helping couples and families grow together in romance and friendship.

- Walking with "Happy" feet: Whether you walk for relaxation, exercise or transportation, this session is for you. Podiatrist Dr. David B. Hitzik is coordinating the program, which will cover topics of interest to walkers of all ages and experience levels.

- Be Glad! Be Young!: the idea for this program, by psychologist Dr. Leah Pendarvis.

- The England you didn't see: During four-month stay in England last year, Jerry Hinkley taught biology to British college students, and took lots of photographs. Now back teaching at College of Lake County, he has created one of his famous visual extravaganzas using three screens and six slide projectors.

- Investing in Today's Environment: Investing is not just for today, but for tomorrow's needs and objectives. Sandra Shinsky, trust officer at American National Bank and Trust Co. (Waukegan), will help assess the risk in current investments, discuss the pros and cons of do-it-yourself investing, and look at alternatives.

Victory Lakes—paving unique way of future

Today, more and more sons and daughters are facing the responsibilities and realities of caring for one or both of their parents. Most people believe the ideal atmosphere of caring for their loved ones is in the privacy and warmth of our own homes. However, in many cases this is not a realistic or viable option.

Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center has taken the need for warmth, compassion and security and adapted it in to a relaxed nursing home setting. "Victory Lakes is the fulfillment of a dream for a warm, supportive environment where loved ones can find a sense of contentment and companionship in their aging years," says Mary Riggs, administrator at Victory

Lakes.

What makes Victory Lakes so unique? Its location away from the noise and congestion of Lake County's busy suburbs. Victory Lakes is situated on 60 acres of restored prairie land. The building blends with the natural environment to create a bright, peaceful setting for its residents. Residents can enjoy the outdoors by watching flowers bloom, birds fly, and an occasional deer come up to feed. The physical beauty of Victory Lakes is surpassed only by its staff, who take great pride and dedication in helping residents find comfort and happiness in their surroundings.

The facility also offers a successful rehabilitation program. Its goal is to rehabilitate residents back into the care of their families, thus proving life in a nursing home doesn't have to be forever.

Victory Lakes also offers the finest care available for Alzheimer's patients in the "Sunshine Wing." The wing is a private, secure section, staffed by professionals dedicated solely to caring for these special people. Residents of the Sunshine Wing are surrounded by familiar faces, including staff members and volunteers who are with them for the long term. This is a place where residents can be happy, live at their own pace, and feel completely protected.

To make an appointment for a complimentary tour at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, call (708)356-5900.

Pre-surgery education program

Facing a total hip or knee replacement can be quite frightening and confusing. Victory Memorial Hospital now offers patients scheduled for total hip or total knee replacements, a chance to learn about the surgical procedure they are about to undergo. The idea originated with Penny MacKenzie, patient care director, orthopedics, and Jack Pichler, vice president, professional and general services at the hospital. "It is important to inform patients in advance what to expect before, during and after surgery. This, in turn, helps calm patients' nerves and better prepare them for surgery," says MacKenzie.

Approximately two weeks before surgery, Karen Alfano, surgical admissions nurse, calls the patient to schedule a morning of pre-operative resting and education. Through this process, each patient becomes an integral part of the health care professionals team led by their physician. Patients are encouraged to bring a loved one, relative or friend to these sessions. Complimentary lunch is provided.

During this half day program, the patient begins to meet some of the team members involved in surgery and rehabilitation. These include physical therapists, anesthesiologists, social workers and nurses.

Patients undergo laboratory tests (blood tests), a chest x-ray and an EKG to make certain that they are medically prepared for surgery. A physical therapist helps prepare patients for recuperation after surgery, by teaching them a series of muscle strengthening exercises. Patients also visit 4 Central, the orthopedic department, where they watch a video that details what to expect before and after total joint replacement surgery. A nurse concludes the program by discussing the patient's home situation and plans for when "after the hospital" care and recovery will begin.

According to Alfano, feedback on the program is positive. Patients completing the program seem to progress much better following surgery than those who have had no pre-surgery education.

Staying healthy with 'big three'

A recent report on aging estimates that the United States already has more people over age 65 than it has teenagers—and the numbers of those living well beyond the "golden years" are growing. Of those reaching age 65, 80 percent are living to age 80.

The extension of average lifespan has brought new challenges for the aging—one of which is paying renewed attention to leading a healthy lifestyle. For the elderly, that can make or break the chances of growing old "gracefully."

I advise my senior patients, and young and middle-aged as well, to pay attention to the simple things, especially the "big three"—exercise, nutrition and hydration.

Exercise is important at any age. With my elderly patients, I generally recommend a regular walking program. Studies have consistently shown that walking on a regular basis can help lower the risk of heart disease and other chronic illnesses.

Good eating habits are another key to overall health. No more than 30 percent of calories should come from fat, for instance, and only 55 percent should come from carbohydrates. Protein should make up the rest.

Seniors, like many young people, often overlook the easiest part of leading a healthy lifestyle: staying hydrated, or meeting the body's constant need for water.

As people age, they face special challenges when it comes to hydration. Their thirst mechanism becomes less accurate and their body's ability to react quickly to heat or cold rapidly diminishes. This means seniors are more susceptible to illnesses such as heat stroke, cramps and exhaustion, which are caused by dehydration, often triggered by extreme temperature conditions.

Some of the warning signs of heat related illnesses and severe dehydration are involuntary muscle spasms, headache, dizziness, weakness and loss of consciousness.

The best way for seniors to avoid these often life-threatening conditions is to drink ample amounts of water and limit time spent in extreme climates. I recommend making a conscious decision to take in at least 2 1/2 to 3 quarts of water a day from all sources (liquids, solid foods). Of this amount, at least 1-2 quarts should be water itself. To make sure my patients get this "minimum daily requirement" and to make sure they always have access to water, I suggest they carry bottled water with them.

As a precautionary measure, seniors should check with their doctor before they start any exercise, nutrition or hydration program.

For a free brochure, "Hydration, A Vital Step to Good Health," call Evian Waters of France at (800) 633-3363.

Discover allergy, stomach relief

Q: I am a longtime allergy sufferer who could never find relief until I was prescribed Seldane by my physician. Now I hear that it may not be safe. Is this true?

Joyce Thompson, Grayslake.

A: There have recently been rare reports of serious cardiovascular side effects in patients taking Seldane. These have included cardiac arrest, irregular heart rhythm, and even death. Please note, however, that these adverse effects occurred in instances where the patient either (a) overdosed, (b) was taking erythromycin or ketoconazole (Nizoral®) at the same time, or (c) had a substantial degree of liver failure.

Persons with the above risk factors should avoid taking Seldane. In the great majority of instances, therefore, Seldane is a completely safe and effective medication for treating allergies and related symptoms. So unless you fall into one of the above categories, you should continue to feel safe about taking Seldane. If you are nausea rectal suppository such as Tigan® or Compazine®.

'Ask your pharmacist' not certain, please be sure to ask your physician or pharmacist!

Q: Last week my son had a bout of stomach flu, including nausea and vomiting. I didn't know what to give him, as he was unable to keep anything down. What can a person do in such a case?

Marvin Barnes, Waukegan.

A: This is a very common question. In instances where the nausea is milder and the person can keep oral medications down, an over-the-counter product such as Pepto-Bismol® or Emetrol® may serve to soothe the stomach. In cases of more severe nausea and frequent vomiting, it is often recommended that one contact the physician, who may then prescribe an anti-

It is also important to remember that dehydration is a potential danger in instances of frequent vomiting. When the episode has subsided, therefore, it is extremely imperative to replace fluids. This may be accomplished by drinking juices or better yet liquids which also replace minerals such as Pedialyte®, Ricelyte® or Gatorade®.

Golfers drive profits to $30,000

About one hour after the shot gun start, golfing in the Second Annual Mental Health Assn. in Illinois (MHAI) was abruptly halted by a deluge of rain which prevailed over Kemper Lakes Golf Course in Long Grove.

Golfers left their carts and, with golf bags, gathered in the club house. As the hope of golf diminished, hors d'oeuvres were brought out and an auction began. Diana Ditka and other good sportsmen Vince Tobin, Jim Morrissey and P. T. Willis served as auctioneers. Guests also generously bid on silent auction items.

Some of the top bidders and their items included: Arlington International Racecourse Executive Package for eight, Ken and Lynne Pontikes, Barrington; Baseball bat signed by Andre Dawson, Dick Green, Burr Ridge; Basketball signed by the Bulls, Kim Lenczuk, Barrington Hills; White Sox tickets, Terry Hite, Long Grove; Football signed by the Bears and Cub tickets, Frank Diaz, Oak Brook; Golf at Bull Valley and dinner at Wynstone, Dennis Howland, Inverness; Schaumburg Marriott getaway, Peter John, Inverness.

Participating June 17 in support of the MHAI were Diana and Mike Ditka as well as Bear coaches Dan Abramowicz, Johnny Roland and Vince Tobin. Some of the Bear players included Paul Justin, Ron Rivera, Jim Morrissey, P.T. Willis, Chris Gardocki, Jeff Ireland, John Mangum, Kelly Blackwell, Troy Auzene, Curtis

Gentry and Todd Harrison.

For information on all special events contact Kimberly Duchossois Lenczuk, vice president MHAI at (708)870-1800.

Gurnee police have released this composite sketch of a suspect who robbed Avco Financial Tuesday. Anyone with information should call the Gurnee Police Department at (708) 244-6640.

Suspect steals petty cash in Gurnee

After taking a week off, another thief was successful in holding up a Gurnee financial institution.

The Tuesday robbery at Avco Financial Services by one person marked the third time in four weeks a Route 132 financial institution in Gurnee has been robbed.

"We are not treating them as being anyway related," Gurnee Deputy Chief Hank Schwarz said.

Other robberies under investigation are First Federal July 7 and Harris Bank of Libertyville July 14. The First Federal robbery was done by two black men while a woman robbed the Harris facility.

"He just demanded money and wanted employees to open the safe, but there was no safe. He only made off with some petty cash that was in the cash drawer," Schwarz said.

Avco is a loan and foreclosure firm located at 3701 W. Route 132.

Schwarz said the robbery was not videotaped. "It is just an office, there are usually no cash transactions there," he said.

Police have released a composite sketch of the suspect.

Before the third bank robbery, John Ward, police chief, said the heists are not affecting department resources. "We have set policies and procedures," he said.
